Powers Calls Spy Flight 'Bad Service' To U.S.

THEY HOLD POWERS' FATE—Three judges in the espionage trial of American U-2 pilot Francis G. Powers were photographed on the bench in Moscow's Hall of Columns as they listened to yesterday's proceedings. Military Jurist Lt. Gen. Victor Borisoglebsky, center, is presiding. He is flanked by two lay assessors, Air Force Maj. Gen. Alexander Zakhzrov, left, and Maj. Gen. of Artillery Dmitry Vorobiev, right. (AP Wirephoto via radio)

He's Apologetic, But Challenges Experts

MOSCOW (UPI)—Francis Gary Powers repented in court today for his U-2 spy flight as a "very bad" service to America.

Powers blamed the flight on his superiors in apologetic testimony that led his attorney to hope the flier could escape the firing squad and win leniency.

The verdict and sentence—death or from seven to 15 years imprisonment—of the three-member military tribunal was expected either late tomorrow or early Saturday after one more day of proceedings in which the 31-year-old Powers will be given a chance to have a "last say" to the jury-less court.

An inkling of possible leniency came when Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said defense attorney Mikhail Grinev told the Powers' family that "considering Powers' behavior during the trial, his repentance and regret about the committed offense, he hoped for the court's leniency.

STAR WITNESS

Powers was the star witness today, and he skillfully mixed emotional appeal with repentance. He also challenged two expert prosecution witnesses.

Sitting in the boxed-in prisoner's dock at the front of the columned courtroom, usually a concert hall, he sat cross-legged, folded his arms, leaned forward or rose to his feet in complete command of himself. Sometimes he scribbled notes as prosecutor Roman Rudenko made charges.

The expert witnesses, Rudenko, the villagers who captured him when he bailed out from the U-2 May 1 after "something" hit the plane at 68,000 feet, and the chief judge, Lt. Gen. Viktor Borisoglebsky, all built the Soviet case against both Powers and the "invisible" defendant, the United States.

ORDERED TO FLY

Asked by Borisoglebsky why he flew the mission over Russian soil, Powers replied, "I was ordered to do so."

Question: "Did it occur to you that a flight might provoke military conflicts?"

Powers replied, "The people who sent me should have thought of that."

The judge pressed him with, "Do you think now you did your country a good or bad service?"

"I would say very bad," Powers answered.

But Powers defended himself as experts came forward to testify about the gear he had in his possession aboard the plane.

TELLS OF NEEDLE

He did not challenge Prof. Viktor Prozovsky who said the poison in the hollow needle carried by Powers was curare, "the most quick-acting" poison which in 20 seconds killed a white mouse that was scratched with the needle.

But Powers challenged a Professor Istomin who said the U-2 bore no national identification marks. Powers said he thought the plane might have had markings and insisted that he had seen markings on it on previous occasions.

When the court was shown a "fire starter" from his plane Powers insisted that the label on it be read into the record. It was to the effect that the starter was for use in making bonfires with damp wood.

U.S. Shoots New Space Capsule Aloft

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—Air Force scientists, cheered by the historic recovery of a space capsule from the 13th Discoverer satellite, sent No. 14 aloft today—crammed with secret sky-spy gear.

The reconnaissance devices in its nose cone were being tested for future military surveillance satellites.

The cone also contained a special 10-pound package of instruments for radar and optical tracking—an experiment to help the Navy's transit navigation satellite program.

Goal of this shot, as with all Discoverers, is recovery of the instrument capsule from orbit—by a tricky aerial catch, if possible.

Tomorrow, if all goes well, the capsule will be ejected over the Arctic and will parachute down near Hawaii. Planes will try to snag its parachute and, if they fail, ships will try to pluck it from the sea.

Last week, after failing in all previous tries, the U. S. made the first recovery of a man-made object from space.

Communication Satellite Shot Attempt Fails

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A space rocket exploded in flight today about two and one-half minutes after it blasted off in an attempt to hurl an experimental military communications satellite into orbit.

The fiery sky explosion ruined the first step in a long range investigation of the use of satellites as a global communications network for all U.S. military forces.

Soviets Quote Hallinan: 'Red Tribunal Fair'

Attorney Vincent Hallinan of Ross was quoted by the Soviet news agency Tass today as saying he believes U-2 pilot Francis G. Powers would get less courtesy and consideration in a United States court than he is receiving in his trial before a Soviet military tribunal.

Associated Press reported the Soviet news agency quoted Hallinan as saying he regarded the Powers case proceedings as absolutely fair.

RAN FOR PRESIDENT

Tass identified Hallinan as "the distinguished American lawyer who was a presidential candidate in 1952 in the United States." Hallinan ran for president as head of the now defunct leftwing Progressive Party. He was invited to attend the Moscow trial as an observer.

Tass reported:

"The American lawyer emphasized he had studied Soviet criminal law and had been strongly impressed by its progressive and humane nature. Vincent Hallinan said that in his view the military court examining the Powers case was acting just as an ordinary criminal court would.

FAIR TO DEFENDANT

"Hallinan pointed out that the Soviet prosecutor general was fair with regard to the defendant. The questions he asked Powers were aimed at gaining the fullest possible information on the substance of the case and not at placing the defendant in a difficult position.

"Hallinan said he did not think Powers would be treated with so much courtesy and consideration were he on trial in the United States."

$11.6 Million Budget Adopted By County

Tax Rate Fixed At $2.12; Employees Get Flat Raise

A final Marin County 1960-61 budget of $11,648,408.05, carrying a $2.12 tax rate (down 11 cents from last year), was adopted today by the Marin County Board of Supervisors. Last year's total was $11,822,406.59.

This action was taken after adoption of a resolution putting into effect a $25 a month flat increase for all eligible county employees, rescinding the former basic salary plan and substituting a new schedule.

The board tentatively set Aug. 30 as the date for consideration of tax rates of 105 special districts although Michael Mitchell, assistant auditor-controller, had asked for the deadline day Sept. 1. Mitchell was asked to try to get his figures ready for Aug. 30 as regular board meeting day.

The county library budget figure was $251,629, compared with $350,856 last year, and calls for a 13-cent tax rate as compared with 15 cents last year.

A major factor in the lower tax rate was an over-all 11 per cent valuation increase on Marin County properties with a new total of $242,621,805 as compared with last year's $218,393,943, up $24,227,862.

The library district total assessed valuation was $137,688,530, up 10.8 per cent, contributing to a two-cent rate decrease. The library tax is levied throughout Marin's unincorporated areas and in Belvedere, Corte Madera, Ross, Fairfax and Novato.

An over-all percentage breakdown of the budget showed that 34 per cent went to salaries, 44 per cent to maintenance and 22 per cent to capital outlay.

County Administrator D. A. Jensen contributed an analysis pointing out that the preliminary budget had indicated a county tax rate of 2.367 cents per $100 assessed valuation and

Canadian U.N. Troops Beaten By Congolese

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo (UPI)—Premier Patrice Lumumba's Congolese troops disarmed 14 Canadian soldiers of the United Nations force today and kicked them and beat them with rifle butts during a search for "Belgian spies."

Three of the Canadians were hospitalized with injuries and one, Capt. J. C. A. Taschereau of Quebec, was reported suffering from a concussion inflicted when Congolese troops kicked him as he lay on the ground. The other two were not injured seriously.

The Congo crisis was growing worse by the minute and Katanga Province—which has declared its independence from the Congo—sent troops to nine roads and railroads in fear of an invasion by Lumumba's army.

The preparations for war followed a threat by Lumumba yesterday to send his army into Katanga if the United Nations does not dispatch neutral observers to carry out the resolutions adopted by the U.N. Security Council.

The Security Council is expected to meet in New York on Saturday to discuss the growing crisis and Lumumba's public denunciation of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

Mother Of Banker Dies In Car Crash

The mother of a Sausalito bank manager was killed yesterday afternoon when she was flung from a car toppling down an embankment off Ridgecrest Road on Mount Tamalpais

Her death was the 17th motor fatality in Marin County this year. At this time last year, 13 highway deaths had occurred.

The victim was Mrs. Olga K. Bosl, 68, of San Francisco Her son, Frank Bosl of 1725 Bridgeway, Sausalito, is manager of the Sausalito branch of the Bank of America.

The accident at 1:05 p.m. involved a small imported sedan driven by Frank Schiessl, 56, of San Francisco, who was northbound half a mile south of the junction with the Fairfax-Bolinas Road. Schiessl went off a curve and, as the car

Fusselman Blasts Utility Valuations

Public utility valuations are up only about 5 per cent in an over-all 11 per cent rise to a new total of $242,621,805 for the 1960-61 fiscal year, it was critically noted before the Marin County Board of Supervisors today.

Supervisor William D. Fusselman brought out this point in scanning analysis by Michael Mitchell, assistant auditor-controller, which showed utility valuations at $25,558,650 as compared with $24,287,720 last year, a gain of $1,270,930, whereas local secured property totaled $203,703,410 as compared with last year's $181,163,020, a gain of $22,540,390.

The unsecured valuation of $13,359,745 was up from $12,943,203, a gain of $416,542.

Noting that the utilities didn't seem to be pulling their weight in the over-all 11 per cent increase, Fusselman got from Mitchell the estimate of 5 per cent for the utility portion and said:

"This points to something wrong somewhere. The State Board of Equalization that (Assessor Bert W.) Broemmel is fearful of, afraid that they will be on his back, is not practicing the same thing he is.

"It's not in line. The principles applied to the utilities should be similarly applied to the home owner."

Mitchell said that some variation was inherent in the reported practice by the state board of calculating assessed valuations of utilities at 50 per

Warehouse Vandals Smash 9 New Cars

Nine brand new sedans were battered and smashed against each other by vandals who raided the Ames Ford warehouse in San Rafael yesterday. Damage was estimated at more than $6,000.

Automobiles had been whipped around in the huge building and bashed head-on into other cars. Some cars were smacked into the walls.

There was shattered glass and ripped chrome strips strewn about the floor when the carnage was discovered late yesterday afternoon.

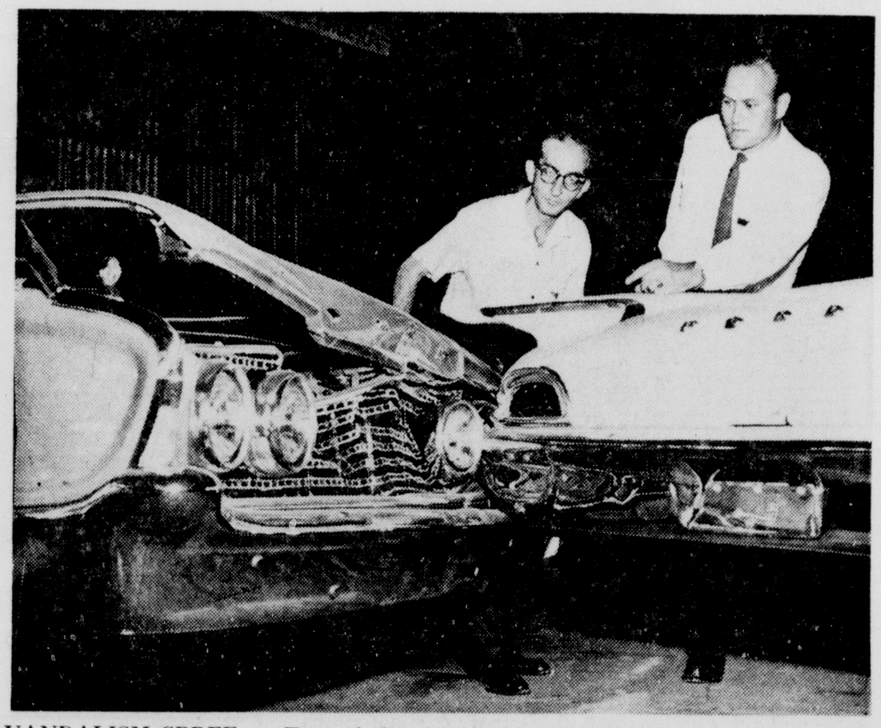
Louis Concilio, business manager, said the car-smashing spree evidently happened during the night. The industrial district about the warehouse at 325 Francisco Boulevard is empty at that time.

Several brand new Thunderbird sport cars—also with the keys in them—were left untouched.

All nine sedans were insured, Ames officials said.

Two of the cars were almost demolished, four were extensively damaged and three badly banged up.

Police said the vandals smashed in a boarded up rear entrance to the warehouse.



VANDALISM SPREE — Two of the nine cars smashed by vandals at the Ames Ford warehouse in San Rafael are inspected by Louis Concilio, business manager (left), and Perry L. Brown, salesman.

SAC Chief Heads Unified Strategic Weapons Agency

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Air Force Gen. Thomas S. Power took on the task today of planning the war missions of all U.S. strategic weapons from high-flying bombers to submerged missile submarines.

Power was named to head a new unified military agency that will blueprint Soviet and other targets and specify the strategic weapons that would be used against them in event of global war.

He will continue as head of the Strategic Air Command while holding his new post as director of strategic target planning for the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

GEN. THOMAS POWER
He'll plan war missions

TELLS DECISION

Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr. announced the far-reaching new organization late yesterday after discussing it with America's worldwide military commanders who were summoned here for the purpose. It settled long-standing Navy and Air Force differences and heralded further service unification.

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, retiring chairman of the joint chiefs, said the object was to gear all U.S. retaliatory weapons—bombers, land-launched missiles and Polaris submarines—to react on 15 minutes warning of attack and hit targets that had been precisely determined in advance.

It will be Power's job, with a vice admiral for a deputy and a staff of about 40 officers from all services, to prepare a continuously up-to-date list of targets and the types of weapons needed to knock them out.

In settling Air Force and Navy differences, Gates ordered a system that is short of Air Force desires and goes further than the Navy wanted.

What Gates called a "tough decision" was made necessary by the emergence of the submarine-launched Polaris missile as a key retaliatory weapon. Up to now, "massive retaliation" weapons have been almost exclusively the business of Power's Strategic Air Command.

CENTRAL CONTROL

A means had to be found for centrally controlling the new variety of bombs and missiles, allocating targets, avoiding duplication of effort and settling service command relationships.

The Air Force, long an advocate of a single military service, proposed a new strategic command to embrace its own and Navy retaliatory weapons.

The Navy, violently opposed to a service merger, countered that "targeting" should be handled broadly by the joint chiefs and in detail by individual commanders.

Under the compromise, there is no over-all strategic command and the Navy retains operational control of its Polaris submarines.

Dam Bursts; 21 Die

TORRELAVEGA, Spain (UPI)—A Belgian-owned dam near this north Spanish town burst last night, sent a wall of water surging through a mining village and swept at least 21 persons to their deaths.

Union Chiefs Renamed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Secretary-Treasurer Thomas L. Pitts and two other top California Labor Federation officers have been re-elected without opposition.

Others elected yesterday at the AFL-CIO group's convention were Albin J. Gruhn of Eureka, president, and Manuel Dias of Oakland, general vice president.

Songwriter Critical

DOYLESTOWN, Pa. (UPI)—Oscar Hammerstein II, famed Broadway librettist, was reported in critical condition today at his nearby farm.

The theatrical genius who helped put "South Pacific," "Oklahoma!" and other great musicals on Broadway, underwent intestinal surgery several months ago.

Board Clears Sears

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sears, Roebuck and Co. didn't violate any labor regulations by firing more than 100 employees who refused to cross picket lines, the National Labor Relations Board ruled yesterday.

The company, however, must arbitrate the dismissal with unions, Federal District Judge George B. Harris decided. Unfair labor practices charges were filed against the company in San Francisco by two unions.

British Liner Sails

SOUTHAMPTON, England (UPI)—The Queen Elizabeth sailed today for New York packed with cheering American tourists. The vessel's departure broke the strangle hold of a wildcat strike that disrupted the Queen Mary's schedule last week.

The 83,000-ton Elizabeth left Southampton 39 minutes ahead of schedule. Only 45 members of her 1,260 crew failed to report for the sailing. Most of the crew members had to run a gauntlet of pickets to get across the dockside and into the ship.

Africa Frees 27

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Twenty-seven more nonwhites who had been held under South Africa's emergency regulations were released from Pretoria jail this past week, authorities announced.

Of the 1,800 arrested after the race riots last March, about 50 persons, including three whites, are still being held.

Strike Hits Railroad

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — About 1,500 non-operating employees of the Union Railroad went on strike today, cutting off rail shipping at 17 industrial plants, including five big U. S. Steel Corp. facilities.

The walkout, called by the United Steelworkers, officially went into effect at 7 a.m. after a last minute mediation effort by a representative of Gov. David L. Lawrence failed to bring settlement of a wage and benefit dispute.

Boone Kin Dies

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Laura Boone Cooke,, a great-great-granddaughter of Daniel Boone, is dead at the age of 86.

Mrs. Cooke, before her death the oldest living direct descendant of the pioneer, died here Tuesday.

Soviet Spy In Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—A Soviet diplomat ousted from Canada in 1945 for spy activities has returned to the Western Hemisphere as Soviet ambassador to Cuba.

Sergei M. Kudryavtsev, 52, got a warm welcome from the Cuban foreign ministry's protocol chief, Manuel Yepe.

Kudryavtsev was first secretary of the Soviet legation in Ottawa when Soviet spy activities were exposed by Igor Gouzenko, a Soviet code clerk who defected.

Boom Jolts Atlanta

ATLANTA (UPI)—A supersonic B-58 jet bomber broke the sound barrier in a flight over Atlanta last night, touching off panicky reports of bombs and explosions.

The sonic boom was so severe it was felt by just about all the one millions residents in the five-county Atlanta metropolitan area. Some windows were shattered in the downtown area.

City Manager, Police Chief In Vegas Charged

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—The police chief and city manager were arrested last night during a city commission meeting on a Clark County Grand Jury indictment charging them with malfeasance, the sheriff's office reported.

The arrest of City Manager A. H. Kennedy, 53, and Chief Ray K. Sheffer, 35, followed by 24 hours the firing of three policemen.

The actions came after a Clark County Grand Jury investigation of an alleged police burglary ring.

The jury's indictment stemmed from the handling by Kennedy and Sheffer of the investigation into the burglary charges made by ex-policeman Al Mazzuca. Mazzuca claimed that some policemen were involved in the ring.

ANGRY CROWD AT JAIL

Toymaker Admits Butchering Girl

Combined AP and UPI

BOONVILLE, Ind. — A convicted rapist accused of killing an 11-year-old girl was held under close guard today after an angry crowd of townspeople gathered outside the jail.

Emmett O. Hashfield, 53-year-old toymaker with a record of rape and perversion dating back 33 years, calmly sat in his cell at the Warrick county jail.

Sheriff Robert Shelton questioned Hashfield at the request of Chicago Detective Chief James McMahon to see if the former blacksmith had anything to do with recent Chicago area sex crimes.

Hashfield, kept barefoot and without a belt in his jail cell to prevent possible suicide, admitted yesterday he abducted Avril (Honey) Terry, daughter of a Boonville doctor, and tossed her mutilated and butchered body into the Ohio River.

The crime stunned this southern Indiana coal mining town of 6,500. The shock soon gave way to anger and a menacing crowd gathered around the county jail last night, yelling, "Bring him out . . . Lynch him."

But more than a score of policemen guarded the small building, keeping the townsfolk at a distance. The crowd, which swelled at one time to more than 200, dwindled during the night to less than 20. There was no attempt to rush the building and police slackened the guard about midnight.

A hailstone weighing 1½ pounds fell on Potter, Neb., in 1928.

Nothing's Right About City Hall, 2 San Rafael Officials Declare

What's wrong with the San Rafael City Hall?

City Manager Dan E. Andersen and Councilman Charles W. Aby lashed out at the 45-year-old building at the monthly meeting of the chamber of commerce's civic affairs committee yesterday.

Both men are proponents for a new city hall building and site.

"Spending money on the existing city hall is just throwing it down the drain," Andersen declared.

Dr. Aby said the city hall building has been inadequate for 20 years.

He labeled the police department facilities "a crummy hole that is certainly no credit to our city."

Here is what they found wrong with the city hall:

There is no room to store permanent records, many of which are now kept in cardboard boxes jammed in an old storage room and susceptible to fire.

The city council chamber is undersize and crowds for important hearings often spill out into the hall

The police department is squashed into basement rooms in which even the police officers don't like to remain crammed.

Confidential conversations must be whispered because normal talking echoes through the city hall rooms.

The city council for years has been hassling over whether to enlarge the existing city hall or build a new one on a different site.

No answer has been reached.

"The present building has 7,000 square feet of floor space, Dr. Aby declared. "We need 30,000."

Also at yesterday's meeting Raymond Schultz was appointed chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Veterans War Memorial Auditorium sub-committee replacing Frank L. Lucas who resigned because of illness.

The subcommittee is expected to report on plans for the proposed 2,500-seat auditorium on Sept. 14.

Until the law was reformed in 1826, there were more than 200 crimes punishable by death in Great Britain.

Center To Show Imported Cars

San Rafael's Montecito Shopping Center will be the scene of a two-day imported and sports car show Saturday and Sunday, it was announced by the Montecito Merchants Assn.

According to Mike Teilmann, Mill Valley race driver and director of the show, more than 40 cars will be on display from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. each day. Also scheduled are race motion pictures which will be shown continuously in one of the center's vacant stores.

Among the comparatively rare names in racing cars which will be shown are Maserati, Lancia, Lotus and Aston-Martin, Teilmann said. There is no admission charge.

The display was set up in the Hall of Columns in Moscow where pilot Powers is on trial on espionage charges.

BUDGET

Supervisor William D. Fusselman, who clashed vigorously with Auditor-Controller Leon A. deLisle the night of July 28 when deLisle produced his "austerity" figures, lost no time discovering proof of his earlier contention that deLisle had done no more squeezing than the board always does between preliminary and final figures.

"Austerity was four and a half cents," announced Fusselman with a grin.

The rest of the 24.7 cents taken off the preliminary figures was accounted for as follows: Reduction due to increase of assessed valuation, eight cents; reduction due to increased carryover balance beyond that earlier anticipated, 11 cents; reduction due to Novato contracts .7 cent; adjustments in revenue estimates three cents; plus 2.5 cents up because of inclusion of a few items such as $55,000 for the school for the physically handicapped.

Public assistance $3,926,559, representing 33.7 per cent virtually tied by general and administrative items totaling $3,925,300; protection to persons and property $1,367,113 representing 11.7 per cent which in turn was almost identical with the item for roads totaling $1,362,443; miscellaneous $312,068, 2.7 per cent; health and sanitation $301,944, 2.6 per cent; unappropriated reserve $207,000, 1.8 per cent; education $176,225, 1.5 per cent, and recreation $69,746, .6 per cent.

cent of true value whereas Marin County practice on local properties is to figure on 23 per cent.

Total over-all final assessed valuation of $242,621,805 compares with a total of $218,393,943 for last year, a rise of $24,227,862.

The library district's tentative total is $137,688,530, an increase of 10.8 per cent over last year.

A breakdown of means of financing the county budget exclusive of library showed property taxes carrying 43.7 per cent of the burden, for a total of $5,094,636.

Next in order was subventions and grants, $3,539,195, or 30.4 per cent, followed by miscellaneous sources of 13.4 per cent totaling $1,565,127. The carryover balance of $1,124,441 accounted for 9.7 per cent. Sales taxes totaling $325,000 covered 2.8 per cent, adding up to $11,648,400 total.

Injured Girl, 10, Now Reported Satisfactory

Rebecca Jo Paschal, 10, who was seriously injured when heavy slabs of sheetrock siding toppled on her in a house under construction at 129 Highland Avenue, in San Rafael Tuesday, was reported improving and in satisfactory condition today.

Rebecca, who suffered a crushed chest and was reported in serious condition yesterday, is in San Rafael General Hospital.

CONGO

here last night for New York.

The delegation is taking with it a virtual ultimatum from Lumumba that would renounce United Nations aid and send troops to invade Katanga if Lumumba's demands are not met. It also carried Lumumba's warning that the United Nations apparently is trying to turn the Congo into another Korea.

The Congolese assault on the Canadians was the second time Lumumba's troops or police have molested United Nations forces this week. Earlier his police raided white neighborhoods and arrested a dozen U.N. officers in his search for "Belgian spies."

Today's incident came as the men of the 57th Canadian Signals Squadron started to board a plane to fly to Coquilhatville in the Equatorial Province and Luluabourg in the Kasai Province.

They were attacked by Congolese army troopers who pulled them off the plane, forced them to lie down on the ground, then beat them with rifle butts and kicked them. The Canadians were rescued by a group of Ghanian U.N. troops led by a British officer.

Two Men Trick Clerk, Take $312

Two men stole $312 from the Butterworth Tobacco Co. store yesterday afternoon after luring the clerk from the cash register.

George C. Rota of 28 Porteous Drive, Fairfax, said one of the men came into the front of the store at Third and Lootens Street, San Rafael, and questioned him about pinball machines.

Hearing a noise at the rear of the shop, Rota went to investigate and returned to find the man gone and the money missing from the cash register.

$150 In Tools Stolen At Civic Center Site

Burglars pried the locks from four equipment sheds at the Santa Venetia civic center and stole $150 worth of power tools last night.

The loss was reported by Jerry Wierick, watchman for the contractors, Rothschild, Raffin and Weirich of San Francisco.

POWERS

equipped pistol with which he was armed, Powers became somewhat emotional. He seemed to swallow heavily before saying tensely:

"I could not kill a person, even to save my own life."

"Unfortunately," he added, "nobody but myself knows that I could not kill a person. The pistol, was given to me and I used it strictly for hunting."

Prosecutor Rudenko, a 53-year-old veteran of criminal court procedure, bored in on this point.

"You are aware," he said, "that at 68,000 feet it is difficult to hunt game?"

"Yes, I understand," the Kentucky-born American said. "This was to be used only if I had a forced landing or something."

Through the morning and afternoon sessions, Powers' wife, Barbara, 24, sat holding the hand of her mother, Mrs. Monteen Brown.

A new face in the audience today was that of Vincent Hallinan of Ross. The Marin attorney had been invited by the Russians as an observer at the trial.

Scooter Mishap Causes Injuries

Michael Dufficy, 22, of 10 Hillside Avenue was injured in a motor scooter accident early today at the Bon Air Road and Magnolia Avenue intersection in Larkspur.

Dufficy suffered cuts on his face and mouth and was reported by attendants at Marin General Hospital, where he was treated, to have lost two teeth in the accident.

Larkspur Police were investigating the accident, the details of which had not yet been reported.

Candy Thieves Leave A Trail

A window screen had been slashed and 30 packs of chewing gum, assorted mints and chocolate stolen. Small footprints were found on top of the ice cream cabinet leading to a half eaten piece of cherry pie.

The trail of wrappers ended on Fourth Street half way between A and B Streets however. The culprits had either run out or filled up.

Hungry Thieves Raid 'Y' Office

Hungry thieves raided the YMCA at 1009 Irwin Street, San Rafael, yesterday, finished off several cheese sandwiches and escaped with 48 bottles of soda pop and $1 in change.

Police said the thieves apparently got in through an open rear window and then ransacked the office and a refrigerator.

Mill Valley Job Goes To San Rafael Firm

The Mill Valley City Council last night awarded a contract to Brownely Co. contractors of San Rafael for the paving of Ryan, Buena Vista and Walnut Avenues with their low bid being $6,744.

Fights Cause Mill Valley Ban On Dances

There will be no more teenage dances at Brown's Hall on Miller Avenue in Mill Valley—at least for awhile.

Police Chief James P. McGowan closed the hall to the dances after police officers quelled 10 fistfights at last Wednesday's dance.

Officers Carl E. Mead Jr. and William Walsh, in a report of action at the dance, said, "This so called teen-age dance is not a dance but just a drinking place, a fighting place and a trouble spot."

SIX ON DUTY

Six officers were on duty at last week's dance, two of whom donated their time. At one point special police officer Philip Planert was jumped by a dance sponsor when he tried to halt two teen-agers from slipping into the dance without paying. The sponsor was said to have told Planert that he was paying Planert and that hes hould leave the customers alone.

Ten fistfights were broken up, the report said, most of them between boys, but four girls who got into scraps.

It is one constant operation for two officers inside the dance to keep the fights stopped, the report said. "It would be all right if all patrons were there to dance but the largest portion get together and talk and stand around on the dance floor daring some couple to bump into them so they can get something started."

FIVE OUSTED

Five boys were thrown out last Wednesday because they were seen by officers running into couples on purpose "to get something started."

It is not just Marin County teen-agers, the officers reported. One boy who had come from Alameda was thrown out. There were several boys present from San Francisco.

It is a constant job, the report said, for officers inside to come out and attempt to find the teen-agers sitting in their cars drinking beer and whiskey. Girls take beer into the hall in their purses, drink in the women's room and pass drinks to their boy friends.

What has been stated in the report, it read, has been happening at every dance except one. "We are sure that if the parents of these teen-agers came to the dance and could see what takes place, it would be the last dance for their daughters and sons."

PREVIOUS TROUBLE

McGowan said the dances have been running for about one and one-half years and that previous teen-age dances were stopped at the American Legion Hall on Miller Avenue for the same related reasons.

Winston Searles of 54 Blithedale Avenue, dance hall operator, was in Yosemite today and could not be reached for comment.

Mrs. Kurt D. Schlesinger, president of the Homestead Valley Improvement Club which owns the hall and rents to Searles, said, "We permitted rental because some parents liked having the dances available, and we felt it was a good place since it was being carefully watched by the authorities."

Novato Housewife Fires Shots Into Her Leg, Stomach

A Novato housewife shot herself in the abdomen and left knee after an argument with her husband this morning.

Mrs. Henrietta L. Crane, 27, of 1679 Hill Avenue, was reported in satisfactory condition at San Rafael General Hospital.

Deputy Sheriff George Barnes said Mrs. Crane had visited her husband, James Crane this morning at his job in Raphael Village. Crane, a garbage collector, had left home after an argument on Tuesday.

When a reconcilation attempt failed between the couple, Mrs. Crane pulled a single shot .22 caliber pistol from her purse and fired one shot into her leg, according to Barnes.

She hobbled back to her car parked several feet away at the end of San Jose Boulevard where her mother, Flossie Gilbert, and father-in-law, Fred Crane, were waiting.

Inside the car she pressed the reloaded pistol against her stomach and asked:

"What will you do if I pull the trigger?"

She fired without waiting for an answer.

Quickly her father-in-law sped to the hospital.

Boys Nabbed In Stolen Car By Roadblock

Two joyriding teen-agers in a stolen car were chased through Kentfield, Larkspur, Corte Madera and Mill Valley early this morning before they were captured in a police roadblock.

The boys, a 14-year-old from Kentfield and a 15-year-old Larkspur youth, were taken to Juvenile Hall on charges of auto theft and violation of curfew.

"We just wanted to take the car around the block," they told police when arrested at 2:45 a.m.

Sheriff's Deputy George Tsegeletos and Officer Charles Mattos of Larkspur pursued the boys from College Avenue in Kentfield.

They radioed ahead and asked Officer Edward Grigg of Mill Valley Police Department to set up a block on the south side of Corte Madera grade. The youths almost slid into his patrol car.

FATALITY

plunged down a 100-foot bank, Mrs. Bosl was thrown out of the rolling vehicle.

The driver was able to remain behind the wheel until the car stopped rolling. He climbed out, ascended to the road and halted a passing vehicle.

Mrs. Bosl was found to have suffered a broken neck as well as apparent internal injuries Death is believed to have been instantaneous. The body was taken to Russell and Gooch in Mill Valley, but funeral arrangements are to be made in San Francisco.

Schiessl, who had met Mrs. Bosl only a short time previously, was unhurt. Mrs. Bosl had never lived in Marin County. She was a native of Norway.

George Gallegos Of Greenbrae Dies

George Gallegos, 54 a resident of Marin County for nine years, died yesterday in a local hospital after a year's illness.

He was a staff engineer for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. in San Francisco and had been with the company for 32 years.

Gallegos was a native of San Francisco. He and his wife were married there in 1937. They lived in San Francisco until they moved to Marin in 1951, living in San Anselmo and later in Greenbrae.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo.

Former Marinite Dies At Auburn

John L. Perry, 75, who was in the grocery business in Marin in the 1920s and 1930s, died yesterday at an Auburn hospital from a heart attack. He is survived by his wife, Mary, in Auburn; his daughter, Mrs. James Frush, and grandson, James Frush Jr., both of Greenbrae. A son, Earle, lives in Orangevale.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Gormley and Sons, Sacramento.

Times Revised For Glimpse Of Satellite

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Revised Northern California tables for Echo I, the 100-foot balloon satellite, have been compiled by the Moffet Field office of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The satellite will make three passes over Northern California tonight. These are the revised tables, Pacific Daylight Time:

7:50 p.m., sky sector, southeastern; traveling southeast to east.

9:55 p.m., overhead, west to east.

11:57 p.m., northwestern, northwest to north.

The first president of Spanish-speaking Chile was named O'Higgins.

45-MINUTE RAMPAGE LEAVES TRAIL OF WRECKED VEHICLES

LEWISTON, Me. (AP)—Peter Neptune, 23, a trusty at the county jail, had a busy 45 minutes of freedom yesterday.

Police said he:

1. Walked out of the jail.
2. Stole a car and drove to nearby Auburn, where he was involved in a collision.
3. Drove away from the accident scene and smashed into a warehouse.
4. Backed away from the warehouse—into a moving trailer truck.
5. Left the accident scene, abandoned the smashed car and stole another one.
6. With Auburn police in hot pursuit, drove about a mile before he lost control of the car, which plunged into a rocky ditch.
7. Was arrested and returned to jail.

He is serving an 11-month sentence for drunken driving.

Drunken Driver, 68, Draws Fine of $200

Richmond F. Ferguson, 68, of San Francisco, was sentenced yesterday for drunken driving by Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. in Marin Municipal Court.

Ferguson pleaded guilty and was fined $200, put on six months probation and his driving privileges suspended for the same period. He was arrested Aug. 6 on Highway 1 north of Bolinas.

Shakeup Of Cuba Navy Seen In Wake Of Plot

HAVANA (AP) — A sweeping reorganization of the Cuban navy appeared likely today in the wake of reports that the Castro brothers had smashed a naval plot against their regime.

Government silence prevented official confirmation of persistent reports that Castro agents had infiltrated a group of dissident naval officers at the Casa Blanca base across the way from Havana and uncovered a plot to revolt or defect with two of Cuba's three modern frigates.

Armed forces headquarters denied anything was amiss but informants insisted about 300 men had been arrested on charges of plotting.

Reports that Navy chief Juan Castineira was under arrest were denied officially, but his whereabouts was a mystery.

Havana radio stations said early today that Prime Minister Fidel Castro was visiting army bases in Las Villas Province, in central Cuba The prime minister went to Cienfuegos Monday night, but the duty officer at the naval base there denied there had been any trouble

Sources in Havana said Castro and his brother Raul, minister of armed forces, had personally led a roundup of anti-government forces in the navy.

The first woman candidate for President of the United States was Victoria C. Woodhull, who ran on the National Radical Reformers ticket in 1872.

Mill Valley Slates Cleanup Campaign

Mill Valley Mayor Robert D. Huber urged citizens at the city council meeting last night to take part in the city's cleanup program this month. He said is is being held, in connection with the national cleanup program, especially in preparation for the Fall Festival to be held Sept. 22, 23 and 24.

In asking everyone to take part he said, "It takes one gallon of paint to cover 5,000 square feet and one-fourth of a pint to cover 15 square feet."

'Hams' To Meet

The Tamalpais Amateur Radio Club will hold its next meeting tomorrow night at the VFW hall in Novato. After the meeting there will be an auction in which items donated to the club will be sold. Members are urged to bring items so that the auction will be a success.

LIGHTWEIGHT HANGAR FOR ARMY AIRCRAFT

This is the Army Quartermaster Corps' new frame and air-supported aircraft hangar. It consists of a fabric skin over a lightweight metal frame. The structure rests, when open, upon its auxiliary steel arch-members. It is inflated by a small blower and is fully air supported when its entrance is closed. Half-oval in shape, the 80-foot long, 72-foot wide structure stands 36 feet high at the center. It is designed to withstand gusts of wind up to 75 miles per hour. (UPI Telephoto)

U.S. Expected To Back Venezuela Slap At Dominican As Aggressor

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was expected to throw the weight of the United States today behind a Venezuelan move to condemn the Dominican Republic for aggression.

But Herter may caution the other foreign ministers of the Organization of American States against the total quarantine of the Dominican dictatorship asked by Venezuela.

With a private meeting scheduled this morning, Herter was to be the first speaker of the afternoon. The foreign ministers were embarked on a crucial phase of their two-day-old meeting, judging Venezuela's charge that Dominican officials connived in the attempt to assassinate Venezuela President Romulo Betancourt.

Venezuelan Foreign Minister Ignacio Luis Arcaya called yesterday for a virtual quarantine of the Dominican Republic after noting that the special OAS investigating committee had accused Dominican officials of backing the abortive June 24 plot against Betancourt.

Arcaya asked for a breakoff in diplomatic relations and communications with the Dominican Republic as well as economic sanctions. But he also appeared to leave the door open for lesser measures, saying the ministers had come to San Jose to choose the measures they wish to apply.

Dominican Foreign Minister Porfiro Herrera Baez in a three-hour reply challenged the legality of the OAS committee's report. He declared there was no proof to support Venezuela's charge. Testimony, he said, came from prisoners now held in Venezuela and their statements would not be admissible in many courts. He also hinted the prisoners had been brainwashed by Venezuelan police and likened the case to that of U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers, now on trial in Moscow.

Herrera Baez suggested an exploratory mission be set up to try to restore broken relations between the Dominican Republic and seven other American nations at odds with her.

DEMO LEADERS SEEK TO SPUR CONGRESS

Irked By Slow Pace, Party Chiefs Ask Less Talk, More Votes On Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders struggled today against Republican dissent and defections in their own ranks in their efforts to write a legislative record they hope will attract votes.

Party leaders, obviously irked by the slow pace, took steps to speed action in a Congress session they apparently think is making them look bad politically.

In the Senate these took the form of a quiet movement to cut down on the talk and get more votes on a pending bill to increase the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25 an hour.

TRY FOR QUORUM

In the House, Democratic leaders tried for a fourth day to get a quorum so they could discontinue futile daily sessions. They missed by three votes yesterday getting half of the membership to answer the roll call.

Actually, members had been told there would be no business this week and they could stay away until next Monday. But with Democrats making up two-thirds of the membership and the heavy absenteeism pointed up by daily quorum calls, the situation could be misunderstood by the folks back home.

A movement also was reported under way to jar loose from the House Rules Committee varying Senate and House versions of school construction bills. The committee also is holding up a housing bill.

In both houses leaders have to contend with Democrats who either openly or privately oppose party platform declarations.

In the Senate, majority leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the party vice presidential nominee, had to engineer the death of a civil rights bill because Southern Democrats would have tied up all business with a filibuster.

MEDICAL CARE

Because six Democrats joined six Republicans on the Senate Finance Committee to approve a federal-state matching system, Sen. John F. Kennedy, the presidential nominee, now faces a fight to get a measure for medical care for the elderly that will jibe with his platform.

This won't be easy, because there is substantial Democratic as well as Republican opposition to financing such a program through social security taxes, as Kennedy proposed.

President Eisenhower denounced this as "compulsory medicine" at his news conference yesterday.

Eisenhower said also he couldn't see any reason why there couldn't be a lot of action on the 21-point legislative program he proposed to the Democratic Congress on its return from the party conventions.

He said it had passed 436 bills in two weeks last year. The Republican National Committee, which furnished him this statistic, said that in the closing two weeks of the session last September the House passed 191 bills, the Senate 245.

Novato Support Of School Bonds Sought By Group

Novato School District trustees will attempt to form a citizens' committee at a public meeting tonight to support a school bond construction proposal.

More than 35 persons have been specifically invited to the meeting to hear a discussion and questions on the proposed $1,500,000 in bonds, $2,500,000 state loan and extended $3.23 operational tax rate maximum. Voters will be asked for their approval on October 4.

Jerome Gilbert of the Novato Advisory Council for Education, will be chairman of the meeting at 8 p.m. at the Marion School.

The 4 million dollar program would be used for seven years of construction on district schools on the elementary and high school levels to meet expected population booms.

Integration Showdown Due In Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A new federal-state school integration showdown loomed here today in the wake of Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' takeover of New Orleans public schools.

Davis acted yesterday to supersede the Orleans Parish (county) school board under a 1960 legislative law permitting him to take over schools to prevent racial integration.

U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright has ordered the first grade of New Orleans public schools integrated at the start of the fall term next month.

A three-judge federal court meets Aug. 26 to hear a suit by 31 white parents and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People for an injunction to prevent Davis from interfering with integration.

Issuance of the injunction would strike at the constitutionality of the law under which Davis acted.

It would also cancel an earlier order by State Dist. Court Judge Oliver B. Carriere ordering the Orleans Parish school board not to comply with Judge Wright's desegregation order. Carriere thus upheld the validity of a state law giving the legislature sole power to reclassify schools as white or Negro.

GOP FIRES BLAST AT FAMILY

Nixon Back From South To Face Demo Ire At Attack On Kennedy

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vice President Richard M. Nixon returned from his first campaign trip to the South today to face a Democratic storm of anger over a Republican attack on Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Gen. Gale W. McGee (D-Wyo.) said he would call on Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, to clear up whether "he endorses or repudiates this kind of attack."

The attack was launched on the Senate floor last night by Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) He said the Kennedy family was trying to outbid the government on a project to help African students come to the United States.

Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, said Scott's speech was "the most unfair, distorted, malignant attack I have experienced in 14 years in politics."

Nixon's first vote hunt in the South was a quick flight to Greensboro, N.C., where he surprised a crowd of more than 12,000 last night by speaking out on civil rights.

The ardor of most of his listeners diminished as he called for progress in civil rights. But there was more applause when he added: "I recognize that law alone is not the answer."

Nixon told newsmen later he did not intend to "avoid or soft soap the civil rights issue" in his trips to the South.

At an earler news conference, Nixon said he supported the objectives of sit-in demonstrations which students started in Greensboro early this year and which spread to other states.

Any American who is allowed to go into a store and buy the products it offers for sale, he said, should be allowed to use all the facilities of that store. The reference was to refusal of some stores to allow Negroes to use lunch counter and soda fountain facilities while allowing them to purchase general merchandise.

Nixon said sit-in demonstrations should be orderly and not in violation of local laws. Whether these laws are valid, he said, is for the courts to determine.

Asked at this televised news conference whether religion would be a major issue in the campaign, Nixon said he hoped it would not. Kennedy is a Roman Catholic.

Kennedy and Nixon expressed themselves on foreign policy issues yesterday.

Kennedy wrote Rabbi Israel Goldstein, honorary vice chairman of New York's Liberal Party, that the first step in bringing peace to the Middle East would be a conference of the contending states.

If elected president, Kennedy said, he would try to "demonstrate to the nations of the Middle East our genuine desire to provide the conditions for a just and mutually beneficial modus vivendi."

Nixon, in an article for the weekly London American, called for a new era of creative U.S.-British leadership to meet Soviet challenges.

"The first need is not for vast sums of money or for formal programs," he wrote. "But there is a need, right now, for imagination and energy and initiative."

Kennedy Wins New Round In Pay Bill Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today defeated a Republican attempt to scale down coverage of the minimum wage bill, thus giving Sen. John F. Kennedy another legislative victory.

The Senate rejected a substitute proposal sponsored by Sen. Winston L. Prouty (R-Vt.) designed to knock out about one million of the approximately five million workers the Kennedy bill would bring under wage-hour coverage for the first time.

Despite success in rebuffing another strong challenge, Kennedy's Democratic forces gave signs they may be willing to offer some concessions to pass some minimum wage bill at this session.

Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla) and other Democrats were expected to offer a compromise plan to cut about 400,000 new workers from the expanded coverage. This would eliminate hotel, motel and restaurant employees and, according to a Smathers' spokesman, has the support of Kennedy forces.

The election-year measure also would raise the $1 an hour minimum to $1.25 over a two-year period.

BEFORE U.N. DEBATE

Canada Urges Disarm Talks Resume Soon

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—Canadian External Affairs Minister Howard C. Green called today for the earliest possible resumption of East-West disarmament negotiations. He warned they might be delayed eight months or more if the question is sent first to the General Assembly.

Russia has demanded a summit disarmament debate in the Assembly session which starts next month. Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has indicated he is ready to attend such a meeting.

"Let us not forget that the arms race goes on every day," Green told the 82-nation disarmament commission. "We may have the very future of civilization in our hands today."

Green said the disarmament question was not likely to come up in the assembly before late October.

"And nothing may happen for six months or more after the General Assembly debate," he said.

Green offered an amendment to a six-power resolution before the commission.

The sponsors—Ecuador, India, Mexico, Sweden, the United Arab Republic and Yugoslavia—were consulting diplomats from both the Western and Communist camps. Qualified sources said it was likely that an entirely rewritten resolution would be submitted in place of the present measure.

To date, there was no concrete move to write into the draft a call for resumption of the 10-power East-West talks which were disrupted on June 27 when the five Communist participants walked out.

The commission's debate went into its third day. It was unlikely the voting stage would be reached today.

The Canadian amendment sought inferentially to place first importance on renewed negotiations and then to ask "in addition" that the Assembly debate disarmament.

Corte Madera Board Hires 'Girl Friday'

The Corte Madera Board of Adjustments appointed a new "girl Friday," last night, unanimously approving Ruth Laughlin as new stenographer and secretary.

Miss Laughlin of 468 Corte Madera Avenue, was former co-owner of a health food store in San Francisco which she recently sold before moving to Marin County. She replaces Portia Fitzgerald, who last month resigned as secretary of the board of adjustments, board of design and planning commission. Mrs. Fitzgerald retained her parttime position as secretary to the Corte Madera Sanitary District.

In other action last night, the board referred back to Col. B. L. McCormick, an application for a variance which would permit him to construct a two-unit addition to his four-unit apartment at 231 Corte Madera Avenue. The board asked McCormick to present more complete drawings.

The board turned down an application by Jack Chigris of 13 Vista Court to build a home on a substandard lot in Marin Estates. The lot, No. 121, is not wide enough to allow construction of a home in accordance with the zoning ordinance, the board decided.

Three Marin Youths Touring Europe After Y Conference

Three Marin youth are now traveling in Europe after attending the YMCA World Youth Conference in Hilversum, Holland.

This week they are in Germany to attend the Passion Play at Oberammergau. They will go to Italy for the opening of the Olympic Games, then visit Switzerland, France and Holland again before coming home just before the opening of school.

The three are Richard (Butch) Brear, son of the R. C. Brears of Greenbrae and a member of the Stags, a Hi Y club; Carol Dell 'Era, daughter of the Jordan Del 'Eras of San Rafael and a member of the Teenettes, and Ross McKay, son of the James McKays of Kent Woodlands and a member of the Crusaders.

Young Brear reported the activities of the conference today in an airmail letter to the Independent-Journal from Holland:

"Our conference has ended as of today (Aug. 14) and the delegations from all over the world have started to return to their homes.

"At the conference, 48 countries were represented by 791 official delegates. Two hundred delegates were from the United States and each of the other countries has representations in accordance with population.

"After the opening ceremonies and opening difficulties were over, the conference got down to serious business.

"Each morning we have had opening devotions in the main hall. The whole conference was present at devotion. Individual Bible studies followed our morning get-together.

"Following Bibles tudy, we had discussion groups where we exchanged ideas about 'authority,' 'war and peace' and 'the family.' Because of our differences in culture and background, our discussions proved very fruitful.

"Friday and Saturday were devoted to dragging together the ideas that had been discussed in each individual group. Thins so-called summary and the resolutions were finally voted upon and passed as the official report for this conference.

"One of my personal opionions is that the informal discussions during our free time in the afternoon or night were the most educational. The time was not limited and our subjects were not selected. The highlight of these informal talks wasone on South Africa. This grew to include all of Africa. Each representative of an African country contributed and everyone, I'm sure, left more educated in this field."

Almonte Candidates Outline Platforms

Candidates for membership on the Almonte Sanitary District board stated platforms at a meeting last night of the Almonte Improvement Club at Almonte Hall in Mill Valley.

Those appearing were Robert A. Alexander, Patrick Price, Francis M. Gerlardi and two incumbents, J. Richard Dawe and Valerian Skrylov. Another incumbent, Frank Moncrief, is not running again.

San Rafael Man Hurt By Mishap In Shower

A San Rafael man cut his cheek and head yesterday when he slipped in the shower at his home and plunged through a plate glass shower door.

Marlin Curtis White, 29, a draftsman for a San Francisco engineering firm, was treated at Marin General Hospital and released. White lives at 3 La Vista Way.

DESCRIPTIONS VARY

Novatans See Strange Objects In The Sky

Novato area residents are seeing things—in the sky.

Hamilton Air Force Base spokesmen reported today that they had received some three calls Tuesday night and five calls last night from persons reporting strange objects in the sky.

The descriptions apparently do not jibe. "Some people say they see something rising and falling, some say the thing is changing colors and sizes."

Mrs. Mark Moody, Ignacio, called the Independent-Journal to report that her two young sons, David, 8, and Wayne, 6, saw a reddish, football-shaped thing, with a white "crescent" light on top Tuesday night. The boys are familiar enough with planes and astronomy to know what they're talking about, Mrs. Moody said, adding she was sure it was not the Echo I balloon. Moody is a technical sergeant with the 78th Field Maintenance Squadron at Hamilton.

Officers at Hamilton reported seeing bright stars when they checked the sky from the ground. Tuesday night an F-102 jet from Travis Air Force Base was ordered into the air to check a strange object seen by a Concord housewife. It reported sighting only a cargo plane.

Bomb Blasts Real Estate Man's Home In Chattanooga

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—A white real estate salesman's home was blasted by two explosions—about 30 seconds apart—last night. It was the third residential bombing in a week.

The salesman, N. Ross Walker, and his wife, who were in the living room watching television, and their 11-month-old daughter, asleep in the bedroom, escaped injury.

Police said one of the explosives—either dynamite with a long fuse or a timebomb—was set at the rear of the house and the other in or under a car standing in a carport.

The carport and two cars parked in it were badly damaged. House windows were shattered, pictures knocked from the wall, cabinet doors were blown open and a hole was blown in the brick foundation.

The real estate firm for which Walker works had advertised houses for sale to Negroes in racially mixed neighborhoods. The advertisement was run over Walker's name in both Chattanooga daily newspapers.

Here's Great News for Garlic Lovers

There's an entirely new salad oil on the market that makes it ridiculously easy to put the wonderful flavor of fresh garlic in your salads without your fingers ever touching a garlic clove. It's Girard's Garlic Seasoned Salad Oil, with much better flavor than any garlic salt or powder. Some say it's even better than fresh garlic. Try it.

Schools Get Federal Funds For Projects

Marin County schools received $37,414 in federal funds during the 1959-60 school year for 10 special projects in foreign language, mathematics and science classes, the State Department of Education reported.

This included $32,565 for six science projects; $3,689 for three mathematics projects, and $1,159 for one foreign language project.

More than $4,500,000 in National Defense Education Act funds went to strengthen such classes in 1959 and 1960. The Act provided one billion dollars over a four-year period.

The federal aid for California included $2,800,000 for science classes, $1,500,000 for foreign languages and $400,000 for mathematics.

Department oficials estimated up to 100,000 elementary school students would be enrolling in foreign language classes this year. This dramatic rise from a few hundred students two years ago has drawn warnings from department experts that the time will be wasted if the instruction is dropped after a year.

'LEAN PERIOD' TRIAL

Larkspur Board Considers Dropping School Lunches

Larkspur School District pupils may have to tighten their belts—literally speaking—and go to school next term without noon lunches served in the cafeterias.

The tentative decision to open the three district schools under a trial "lean period" came last night after nearly three hours discussion by trustees and parents on the relative merits and demerits of frozen and so-called traditional lunches.

After the lunchless program had been suggested by several parents, board chairman M. K. Taylor agreed that it would probably "serve to alert parents to the fact we may not have a lunch program until they come forth with their opinion on what kind of lunch they want."

Less than 50 parents were present to come forth with any opinions last night after hearing Taylor read from an outline, prepared by the district administration, listing costs, advantages, disadvantages and opinion polls of both frozen and traditional lunches.

Also read, at the suggestion of several parents present, was a letter from J. M. Hemphill, supervisor of the State Department of Education school lunch program. The letter, which approved but did not recommend the frozen lunches, was sent to Supt. Vaughn D. Seidel last May when the district applied for state blessing of the new program.

Because the district, under its "austerity" program for the coming year, cannot afford to subsidize lunches as they have done in the past, parents will be asked to pay 45 cents per lunch if the decision is reached to continue the service. The lunches have been selling at 30 cents with the district making up the deficit.

Advantages of the frozen fare, a product of Lunchbell Foods of Orinda, were offered as ease of serving, less labor costs, space saving and elimination of the need for expensive kitchen equipment . . .

Listed by the department of education as disadvantages of the experimental program, tried last year at the three schools for the first time in the United States, were excessive costs of the frozen entree, lack of variety, lack of flexibility of portions and poor quality generally.

Also cited as a deterrent to the program was the fact it eliminated much of the surplus food available to districts without costs if the traditional lunches are served.

"It appears the minimum requirements of a class A lunch are being met," Hemphill's letter stated. He added, however, that "the quality of the lunches needs to improve considerably.

"All the beef appears dry and too compact with little flavor. The stew was found to be very greasy and the meat full of gristle. Fried items such as fish and French fried potatoes were soggy. The roll for the barbecued beef was so soggy it was inedible," Hemphill's report said.

A poll of the parents from the three schools, who were invited to two evenings of free frozen lunches in June, revealed that at Henry C. Hall School parents generally approved of the lunches on the basis of appearance, taste and quantity.

At the Larkspur-Corte Madera School the parent opinion poll was about "50 per cent good" while the overwhelming majority of parents in Neil Cummins School turned thumbs down on the program.

Seidel said that roughly 90 parents—out of a total of almost 600—dined and voted on the frozen food.

Attending last night's meeting was Mrs. Ruth Boyer of Corte Madera, nutritionist with the department of education, who assisted in the state survey of the frozen lunch program.

Mrs. Boyer, who said she was present "as a citizen and a taxpayer" told the board that state assistance was available on nutrition problems. "But the service must be asked for," she added.

All five of the board members in attendance emphasized that the final decision on what type of lunch would be served—if any—was up to the parents and "our customers," the children.

Pupils in the three schools, polled as to whether they liked frozen lunches, voted 93 per cent approval in the Hall School, 73 per cent in the Larkspur-Corte Madera School and only 33 per cent at Neil Cummins.

A decision on the eventual status of lunches was held over pending further study of other district programs, including Ross and Sausalito, which the board was told were both serving reasonable lunches without subsidy.

The next regular meeting of the board, at which time the matter will come up again, is Aug. 23 at 8 p.m. in the district offices at the Larkspur-Corte Madera School.

Demos, GOP Split Over Depressed Areas Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats and Republicans agreed today that the federal government must help chronically depressed areas, but they split sharply on how to do it.

The differences were aired at a Senate Banking subcommittee hearing, called by Chairman Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), who said he wanted to compare provisions of his own bill and President Eisenhower's program.

Douglas and Democratic Sens. Pat McNamara (Mich.) and Jennings Randolph (W. Va.) spoke for Douglas' bill, vetoed by Eisenhower last May, which would provide 250 million dollars in loans and grants to economically troubled areas.

The administration bill calls for 180 million dollars in federal spending, and would establish stricter requirements for dispensing the funds.

Commerce Secretary Frederick H. Mueller defended the administration's proposal. Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) advanced his own bill, which contained features of both proposals, as the best solution.

The Democrats contended the administration bill was so inadequate it would defeat its own purpose.

Mueller charged the Douglas bill included "unrealistic plans based on excessive spending and bureaucratic confusion that would turn out to be disappointing to the unemployed."

The secretary said the restrictions recommended by the administration would make more money available to areas in real need. Eighty-eight areas in the country would qualify under the Eisenhower-approved legislation compared with 142 areas under Douglas' proposal, he said.

The vetoed bill provided for a 100-million-dollar revolving loan fund for technical aid to rural areas. The Democrats said it was essential, but Mueller said such help should be given through an existing rural development program.

Under the administration bill, federal funds would be limited to 35 per cent of any project, compared with 65 per cent allowed in the Douglas bill. The Democratic senators argued few needy communities could pay two-thirds of the cost.

The Douglas bill authorized 35 million dollars in grants to communities for public facilities. The administration version provided only for loans. Mueller said grants would be "disruptive to competition between businessmen and the communities, and more properly should be the responsibility of the state and local agencies."

Contra Costa Asks Transit Bond Bids

OAKLAND (AP)—Almeda-Contra Costa Transit District directors voted yesterday to offer a $16,000,000 bond issue for bids Sept. 7.

Bonds will mature in 20 years, instead of 25 as previously planned. The shorter period and an anticipated lower interest rate will save the district an estimated two million dollars.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to purchase the Key System Transit lines and a fleet of new motor coaches.

Scientists Try For Sweeter Crop

BURLINGTON, Ct. (AP) — If scientists at the University of Vermont succeed in a project now in its third year, Vermont's sugar and syrup producing maples will yield sweeter and sweeter sap as the years go by.

The geneticists are checking the sap-sweetness of trees and, from them, cuttings are being rooted in an effort to increase the yield from what Vermonters call the "sugar bush."

PLANNERS REVERSED

Mill Valley City Dads Approve Parking Lot

The Mill Valley City Council voted unanimously last night to grant a use permit to James E. Egger for a parking lot to be built in a residential district contiguous to his commercially zoned nursery.

This was a reversal of the planning commission's decision last week which was 5 to 2 to deny.

There were six provisions attached to the granting of the permit. They are: (1) Any addition to the Jolly Store be brought into conformity as far as offstreet parking is concerned. (2) The use permit may be considered if other land is obtained for parking. (3) The granting is subject to any deed restrictions. (4) No ingress or egress is permitted off Sycamore Avenue. (5) Landscaping be provided. (6) The parking plan for the entire development must be submitted to the planning commission.

Arguments were given by Councilman George W. Blackwell against the use permit with Blackwell saying the property should be rezoned.

Egger told the council the city had zoned his undeveloped property commercial but gave him no access from Miller Avenue. Now, with a bridge to be built over a creek between his property and Herbert Shapiro's Jolly Store property, it is possible to have access. The agreement between the two men will help provide Shapiro with needed parking for Jolly Store which is at present nonconforming regarding parking spaces.

Councilmen Joseph E. Sheeks and Michael Wornum were absent on vacation.

The council also:

1. Announced a certified check for $315,000 would be delivered to City Treasurer William G. Rutherford today for bonds for the Scott Valley Unit No. 1 Assessment District to finance the improvements of the subdivision. Resolutions were passed approving an engineer's report and authorizing the sale of bonds for the subdivision belonging to George Goheen and Marin Capital Co.

2. Approved the donation of $75 to the Marin Aid to Retarded Children.

3. Approved warrants totaling $105,395.

4. Approved unanimously the Lomita sewer main fund which is to provide a new sewer line to handle sewerage from the Corte Madera watershed at the grade down to Lomita Drive; fund is on a volunteer basis with property owners providing money.

5. Discussed the addition of a 15,000 and 30,000 square foot lot size categories to be added to present lot sizes and put matter over until Sept. 7 at which time a report will be asked on the subject from planning consultant Robert Cornish.

Life expectancy at birth in India is only 32 and a half years.

5-Cent Library Tax Continued For Mill Valley

Mrs. Dorothy W. Peavey won a victory for the Mill Valley Library Board last night.

President of the board, she made a strong plea that the library be allowed to keep its five-cent library tax granted last year. Although Councilman George D. Monardo suggested to council members the tax be split with two and one-half cents going to the park and recreation commission to be used for work on the municipal golf clubhouse, the council finally allowed the library board to keep its five cents.

Mrs. Peavey, with most of the board members present to back her, said the board has invested last year's tax money and is eager to keep the tax to be used to obtain a new library. "We need the building badly," she said, "and we can't pass a bond issue. If we have money in the bank, we will be in a position to buy land."

She said the library once had a fund built up for a new library but it was taken away. Now, she added, "we feel we have come to the point of how to get it—a pay as you go thing."

COAST TRAFFIC HIT BY WORST FOG IN HISTORY

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A ground-hugging fog, called the worst in history by highway patrolmen, cut traffic to a crawl this morning on the Coast Highway between Sharp Park and San Francisco.

The heavy fog, usual in mid-winter but unexpected in mid-summer, extended to sea and along the coast.

The Coast Guard said a San Diego fishing boat, the Faye, rammed the freighter Cape Ann off Morro Bay, San Luis Obispo County, but no one was injured.

Visibility was zero at the San Francisco Lightship 10 miles off the Golden Gate, and at the Farallons, Point Reyes and Point Montara.

The fog did not extend far enough inland to impede air or ground traffic.

The cubit, a measure of length, was arrived at from the distance between the elbow and the tip of the middle finger.

Mill Valley Eyes Funds To Run Departments

The Mill Valley City Council voted 2-1 last night to approve the first reading of an ordinance which sets up amounts of money to run city departments for 1960-61.

Mayor Robert D. Huber and Councilman George D. Monardo voted "aye" and Councilman George W. Blackwell, "no." Councilmen Michael Wornum and Joseph E. Sheeks were absent.

City Atty. Thomas C. Nelson said the 2-1 vote was sufficient for first reading approval but final passage will require three favorable votes.

City Manager A. E. Almcrants told the council it appears the city's tax rate will be $1.86 if the total assessed evaluation hits the $18,500,000 estimated for this fiscal year. This would be a drop of 23 cents from last year's $2.09 rate. The budget is tentatively set at $600,116, which is $28,187 more than last year's. The drop in the tax rate is because of increased assessed valuation.

Totals for the departments include $152,000 for the general fund, $38,400 for sewers and maintenance, $32,000 for park and recreation, $49,000 for the library fund, $44,800 for bond interest and redemption, $72,000 for drainage control and $13,600 for the pension fund.

Real Estate Board Hears About Protection Of Title Insurance

Title insurance policies giving full protection to home purchasers except for governmental regulations are always available.

This point was brought out in a Tuesday morning discussion when representatives from five Marin County title companies answered questions from members of the Marin County Real Estate Board.

More property owners are requesting the extended coverage form which includes some 100 odd items not usually found in the public records. It is similar to the American Title Assn. policy required by most lending institutions, but has the added advantage of insuring both the owner and the lender.

Title insurance companies make a personal inspection of the property being sold and require a survey in which they have confidence before issuance. The policy carries a premium almost double that of the so-called standard form but affords much more protection.

SPEAKING for all the title companies, Clyde Stevens of Marin County Abstract Co. in answering a query as to what services they perform when a buyer and a seller elect to close a transaction without a real estate broker, stated that their offices often find it difficult to arrange a sudden meeting of the minds between the two principals.

"This is a field in which a broker's preliminary services are important," he admitted. to handle such situations but they often lead to trouble. We do charge extra for this type of service."

Stevens also brought out that the original agreement (deposit receipt) signed by buyer and seller is the primary document in a transaction and takes legal precedence over others in case of a dispute.

MARIN VISITOR this week, real estate broker Ernest Nelson from Toronto, Canada, and member of the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards, had some interesting figures to give on property transactions in his home city. They're a bit more impressive than any Marin County can offer.

Real estate sales handled through the Toronto Multiple Listing Board of some 500 broker-members average about 18 million dollars a month, he said. Last month was slightly off this figure—it was only 16 million dollars.

New listings are delivered daily by taxicabs to sub-stations throughout the city where they are picked up by the realtors.

TWO NEW APPOINTMENTS in Penney's Corte Madera store have been made — assistant manager Lee Schlepp has been transferred from Penney's Oakland store, Gary L. Schaffer is a new appointee from San Francisco.

WORD IS that Melvin Martini, owner of Mel's Food Center in Fairfax, will move from his present store on Bolinas Road to the former site of Pastori's Market on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Kent Avenue, Fairfax. The change should take place around Labor Day.

Andy Isetta who owns the latter property and also Don's Market nearby will convert his operation to a retail liquor store to avoid competing with his own tenant.

LAST YEAR this country produced almost 795 billion kilowatt hours of electric power—more than was produced in all of Europe, except Russia, and about a third of the total for the entire world.

Russia's production was 264 billion kilowatt hours.

Lest you think that it's the yearly increase that counts rather than comparative existing volumes, the U. S. topped its production of the year before by nearly 70 billion kilowatt hours; Russia gained somewhat more than 30 billion.

Question: At this rate how many "light" years will it take Russia to pass us?

Excavation Law Due More Board Thinking

Difficulties and expense of enforcing Marin County's new and still unpublished excavation ordinance were further aired before the supervisors Tuesday, then continued to Sept. 13 when it is hoped a solution may have materialized.

"If you carry it out, we just won't have the personnel to enforce it," said Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham, "though after the first of the year it would be O.K.

NEED A PERSON

"It couldn't possibly be handled by less than one person, and with other expenses the over-all cost through this year could be $10,000."

Brigham conceded that it was "a pretty good ordinance" and that enforcement would bring in some fees to offset expenses, but stuck to the point that "it's going to cost money."

Supervisors, ready to adopt the final budget, stirred uneasily at thought of any extra outlays. The ordinance was voted favorably on Aug. 9.

"We should publish and make it effective or else rescind it," said Supervisor William D. Fusselman.

TO HOLD BACK

"Just don't publish it, and when you want it, re-enact it," suggested Clerk George S. Jones, who on Sept. 11, when Brigham first sounded an alarm, had promised to hold up publication. "Anyway, why not hold it back for the next 30 days while you find where you stand?"

Such was the decision. Brigham made clear where he stood, which was that if the ordinance were to go into effect immediately, he'd need extra help; or if it were to go into effect as of Jan. 1, he'd be unable to cut off some help he had planned to let go.

The supervisors also:

1. Heard from County Counsel Leland H. Jordan that they lacked authority to waive inspection penalties for Stinson Beach's new community chapel, as the county building ordinance provides for automatic doubling of building permit fee when construction starts before issuance of permit; ordered a copy of the letter sent to Stinson Beach.

2. Authorized the district attorney to buy an air cooler for $41, learning from the administrator that an employee, who spent like amount for a cooler but was denied refund by the supervisors, will take it home.

3. Approved a group of resolutions including intent, map approval and engineers' certificates, for Eagle Rock Estates Special Assessment District on the Tiburon Peninsula.

4. Approved school district loans as follows: West Marin Union $40,054, Tomales Joint High School $38,000, San Jose School District $52,560, Dixie School District $100,000.

5. Authorized $1,800 county payment to the state Division of Highways in order that it may award a $46,715 contract to Power-Mullen Construction Co. of Mountain View for a bridge over Miller Creek, providing extension of Lucas Valley Road up to the Noonan property.

6. Approved plans and specifications for overlay of White's Hill so that contractors might be notified to submit bids to be opened at 11 a.m. Aug. 30.

7. Approved plan change to locate a drainage ditch inside the property line of Marinwood Unit 7, after failure to obtain property outside the line.

Marinwood Board To Hire Manager

Marinwood Community Services District board of directors will meet tonight at 8 in Silveira School to hire a business manager-secretary and plan other services for the community.

Charles Johnson, chairman, announced that the district has just become operational, with the joint powers agreement between the district and the county supervisors.

Tonight's agenda will include discussion of additional street lights and the possibility of getting land for a firehouse.

The meeting is open to the public.

166 CASES SO FAR

Broader Use Of Polio Vaccine Urged In State

BERKELEY (AP) — The 166 paralytic polio cases reported this year in California underline this need for broader use of Salk vaccine, the State Department of Health has announced.

While 75 per cent of the cases are children under 15, there were 14 cases between the ages of 30 and 51, said Dr. Malcolm H. Merrill, state director of health.

"In total those are not very many, but they certainly underline the fact that older people can be victims of polio, too," Merrill said. Seven deaths this year all were adults.

The cases reported cover the period from Jan. 1 to Aug. 6, and far exceed the 134 and 76 cases reported for the same period in 1959 and 1958, respectively.

The general pattern of the disease shows that it strikes children under the age of six most often, Merrill said.

He said the annual seasonal peak has not been reached, and urged parents to make sure their children receive the vaccine.

Draw a circle of insect repellent around your legs, the tops of your boots, cuffs of your trousers — to protect yourself against chiggers.

NO FLOWING ROBES

Bible Story Pictures Revamped By Church

PORTRAYAL OF CHRIST — The United Church of Christ is revamping its Bible pictures in a one-million-dollar change of curriculum for its Sunday School children. Jesus, as shown in this copy of one of the booklets, is portrayed in conventional shirt and "clam-digger" type pants of the conventional robes. (AP Wirephoto)

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Jesus and his disciples were portrayed in highly unconventional portraits today as modern figures clad in casual shirts and clam-digger type slacks.

There were many other bold departures from the traditional images, which show the Master and His men in the flowing robes of antiquity.

In the old-style pictures the beards of Christ and His followers are full and of classical contours; the hair falls nearly to the shoulders, or is a luxuriant mane. Now the beard is slight, hardly more than a tuft. The hair is no longer than that of the popular notion of an esthete.

It is all part of a program by the United Church of Christ to make Sunday school more interesting to children, to make Bible pictures come alive.

Church leaders have spent eight years and a million dollars on the development of the new curriculum. The first unit, for children 3 to 6, is being previewed at a workshop sponsored by the Pennsylvania New York and Potomac Synods of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and the Congregational Christian Conference of Pennsylvania.

The United Church of Christ was formed by the union of the Evangelical and Reformed Church with the General Council of the Congregational Christian Churches.

The Old Testament prophets and patriarchs, the kings and psalmists, also have a mid-20th Century look in this new approach to religious education. Bible stories are retold in nursery rhyme fashion.

The pictures of Bethelem, of the crowded inn and of the stable steamy from the breath of cattle and sheep, are in keeping. There are no wise men bearing gifts, no flights of angels in the story of the Nativity.

The accent is on the manger, the domestic animals. That is because children grow up with gentle animals, make them a part of their lives. Thus the children are made to feel more personally involved in the stories.

Rev. Allen Kroehler, of Philadelphia, director of children's work for the church, said: "The 3-to-6-year-olds are creatures of the here and now. They understand best their own immediate experiences. They have little sense of time and space. They are not skilled with words, and have almost no ability to deal with abstractions.

"We have found that children cannot accept the old pictures, which are formal, often grim, unrelated to what the children know as reality. The new pictures, always colorful, always reverent, of course, have a simplicity of feature that appeals to youngsters. We have smiling faces in these new books instead of the old austerity so strange to a child."

All In Vain

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Casting a quick, slightly guilty glance around the lobby of a Knoxville hospital, a woman visitor produced a pair of scissors from her purse and proceeded to snip slips from the luxuriant plants.

Then, she carefully wrapped the greenery in paper moistened at a drinking fountain and hurried outside—apparently to transplant the pretty — and artificial — growth.

Zoo Gets Gift From Germany

MILWAUKEE (AP)—When the director of the Munich, Germany, zoo sends a thank-you gift he does it in a big way.

Herr Heinz Heck toured the Milwaukee County zoo site in October, 1956, as a guest of local zoo officials. The other day his gift arrived.

It turned out to be a half-ton European bison, valued at over $3,000.

Boat Commuter Gets A Surprise

WESTVILLE, N. J. (AP)—For a year Shirley Wagner, 36, battled the traffic between his home here and his job at an iron company across the Delaware River.

Then he decided to commute in his brother's outboard motorboat. The first day he made excellent time on the mile and a half trip, arriving at the plant 10 minutes early.

But at quitting time he went back to the tree where he tied the boat. The craft's new $100 engine was missing.

He told his story to detectives, picked up his oars and rowed home.

Town Of Kennedy May Vote Kennedy

KENNEDY, Minn. (AP) — Kennedy, a town in northwestern Minnesota, is expected to go for Jack in the November presidential election.

The wheat belt community normally votes heavily Democratic. But its most prominent native son, Rep. Odin Langen, is a Republican. Langen was the only Republican two years ago to unseat a House Democrat.

Researchers at Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago, have found that ultra-ticklish people tend to be emotional.

Schools To Feature Beefed-Up Program

By JERRY HARRELL

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Probably unnoticed by Jimmy the fourth grader and Joe the high school sophomore, big changes are taking place in California's schools.

Many will show up when schools reopen next month and more are coming.

In many schools, this year's 10th grader will find a thoroughly different biology course than did last year's.

His labs will be better equipped.

A wider offering of foreign language courses will greet him.

He'll probably find his counselor has more time to spend with him than he did with his older brother.

And more and more of little Jimmy's grade school pals will be taking foreign languages and elementary science courses.

These are among the changes partly the result of the constant search for new and better techniques, partly the result of the post — Sputnik debate over the public schools.

The National Defense Education Act of 1958 has poured $5.5 million into California's science, math, foreign language and counseling programs.

The state will get about three million dollars more this year.

In addition, surplus military equipment has been made available at as little as apenny a pound to help equip science classes.

Federal aid is making itself felt in better-equipped labs, aids for teaching languages and in the counseling programs.

The state's own reappraisal of its programs shows up in reforms in the teaching of biology, casting aside old rote learning techniques and dull charts for such things as a study of the effects of atomic fallout.

The state is working on a thorough overhaul of mathematics designed to compress the fields of algebra, geometry and trigonometry into three instead of four years. The separate branches of math will be integrated instead of artificially separated.

A fourth year will bring in subjects previously deferred until college. Little used theories will be scrapped in favor of more useful subject matter.

The State Education Department and the Board of Education are working on a program to streamline the social sciences.

It would throw out such present courses as "Freshman Orientation," "Senior Problems" and "Preparation for Marriage."

Even driver education would be shifted out of the social studies area, leaving mostly hard core courses like history, philosophy, political science and geography.

These would be updated to emphasize current trends and happenings in world affairs.

Reforms in foreign languages would make more courses available for the skilled language student.

How do the students like it?

Science enrollments were up 51 per cent last year, 45 per cent all told for the past three years.

The number of classes in Russian has risen from two in 1958 to 50 this year.

Enrollments are up in mathematics.

An estimated 100,000 grade school pupils will study foreign languages this year.

And half the high school grads intend to go on to college.

Builder Told To Proceed At 'Peril'

L. Stuart Linton of 519 A Caledonia Street was told by Sausalito Mayor Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. Tuesday to "proceed at his own peril" in building his new home on Currey Avenue. He may have to tear it down.

Linton said he had a $25,000 loan and has started construction. He was unaware until Monday that there was a city restriction against building on the property.

Planning commission secretary Ruth Sisson said that there had been an understanding with Rob Rose, who sold the property to Linton, that nothing would be constructed there.

City Manager Charles A. Brown said he had reviewed the planning commission record and found that Rose indicated he would not sell the property for building sites. But, Brown said, he could not find that this was a condition for Rose to obtain possession from the state and so he couldn't stop Linton from building.

The matter was referred to the city attorney, now on vacation. "If there is any action," Ehrlich said, "which is improper, you may well find us objecting. Proceed at your own peril," he told Linton.

Giant Puzzler: Why Is McCormick Ignoring His Best Pitching Weapon?

HANLEY

ST. LOUIS—What has happened to Mike McCormick, the 21-year-old southpaw for whom everyone predicted a brilliant major league pitching career?

McCormack was 5-0 on May 13. Now he is 10-8 which doesn't look too bad at first glance when the 10-8 is placed alongside his 12-16 of 1959. But contrasted against his fast start of five straight wins, three of them shutouts, it is difficult to understand.

Ever since May 13 when he shut out the Dodgers in a superb pitching duel with Don Drysdale, McCormick has gone down hill. It's true he did not receive adequate fielding support in a number of his losses but that does not explain his 5-10 record since early May.

Some observers believe the handsome young man at the still tender age of 21 not only has mentally acquired an old man's outlook but is trying to finesse his way on the mound instead of leaning back and firing the ball with all of the capability of his supple and youthful muscles.

BY JUNE 3, McCormick's record still was a brilliant 7-3 and his ERA on that date was just as brilliant, 1.39. Since posting his seventh win on June 3, McCormick has completed only one game in 14 starts and he lost that completed game last week in Cincinnati when Ed Bailey belted him for a ninth inning homer. And his ERA now is 2.86.

In his last start, Aug. 13, against the Braves in Milwaukee, McCormick fired hard for the first three innings, striking out five including Eddie Mathews, Hank Aaron and Joe Adcock—all big belters.

Aaron was the first man up in the fourth inning and McCormick began his finesse pattern that has become a trademark of his recent middle inning pitching. He wound up walking Aaron who stole second, took third on an error, and scored on a single. Ultimately Mike was kayoed on the 13th Brave hit in the eighth inning.

McCormick, a roommate of Johnny Antonelli, seems to be trying to do his job as the 30-year-old Antonelli would do it —with "stuff" instead of a hummer. He won with the hummer and an occasional sweeping sidearm fast ball early in the season. He has lost consistently while trying his new pattern of pitching.

A HASSLE has been brewing over the post-season trip to Hawaii and Japan because only 19 of the 25-man Giant team has been invited. All want to go because of the $3,200 to each man for the 32 day trip, the four days in Hawaii and plenty of sight-seeing in Japan.

The players held a meeting when they were in Cincinnati. Dave Philley, one of those not in the select 19, appealed to National League President Warren Giles and also has asked Judge Robert Cannon, major league players representative, to do something about it.

Elorde Cools Gomes Quick As A Flash

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — There's no doubt about it:

World Junior Lightweight Champion Flash Elorde can lick Harold Gomes any day in the week—and probably twice on Sundays.

Elorde today was hollering about a shot at Joe Brown's lightweight crown after knocking out Gomes in the first round last night in a nationally televised battle—a feat that stunned even his many Filipino followers in Civic Auditorium.

"It came as a surprise to me too," said Elorde after the victory. "I knocked him down eight times while licking him in Manila before I got a knockout in the seventh round. So I knew he would get up after the first time I knocked him down in this bout.

"And I wasn't sure he would stay down the second time."

But the audience knew. Elorde, coming in like a tiger, caught Gomes with a left to the face that put him down for a seven count. When the Providence, R. I., battler, who once held the crown himself, got up, Elorde swarmed all over him.

DOWN FOR KEEPS

A left to the cheek, and a right to the chin put him away for keeps—after only one minute and 20 seconds of fighting! Each weighed 130.

"I'm going from here to Tokyo on Aug. 24 to defend my Orient lightweight crown. Then I hope to get a shot at Joe Brown," said the jubilant Elorde.

"I let everyone down, including myself," Gomes wailed. "It was just one of those nights. I don't remember the punch that did it. I was foggy after the first knockdown. But I would like t meet him again."

It is doubtful that the public will call for a rematch. But the television fans who like their knockouts got their money's worth.

After the brief encounter ended in the first round, preliminary boy Johnny Seratto, 137½, San Francisco, flattened Charlie Pyatt, 139, San Francisco, also in the opening stanza. So a third bout was put on the screen. And in this case, Clarence James, 165, Oakland, knocked out Floyd Ryan, 163, Richmond in the second stanza.

A disappointing crowd of only 2,779 fans watched the bout in the auditorium, paying $11,505 gross and a net of $10,115.

FLYING SPIKES—His spikes flying high, San Jose first baseman Ed King slides into third base, but is forced out by Johnny Boccabella of San Anselmo in this fifth inning action of last night's state semi-pro tournament game. San Jose, however, scored three times in the fifth and three more in the seventh to blank San Anselmo 6-0 behind Johnny Oldham's one-hit pitching. (Jim Kean photo)

Oldham Leads Nesbit '9' Into State Semi-Finals

By JIM GILMARTIN

The pitching wizardry of Johnny Oldham last night spellbound San Anselmo's Ongaro Plumbers as the defending champion San Jose Nesbit Masonry team eliminated the Marin Countians from the California Semi-Pro Tournament, 6-0.

Before a capacity crowd of close to 1,000 fans at San Rafael's Albert Field — largest turnout in the 20-day-old tournament — Oldham dazzled the Plumbers on a one-hitter, yielding only a single to Pete Arrigoni in the eighth frame. The former Seattle Rainier ace of the Pacific Coast League walked nine batters — including three in the ninth frame—but preserved his shutout with 10 strikeouts. Eight Plumbers left stranded on base.

While snapping surprising San Anselmo's four-game victory streak, San Jose advanced into the semi-finals tonight against Sabella's of San Francisco. Winner of tonight's 8:15 o'clock contest battles Hatzell Radio of El Cerrito tomorrow night for all the marbles. Should El Cerrito lose tomorrow night, another "final" game would be played Saturday.

While Oldham was outdueling San Anselmo ace lefty Bobby DeRosa, it was a stirring pitching battle and the loser deserved a better fate than the six-run deficit would indicate. San Anselmo's defense betrayed DeRosa and opened the gates for four unearned runs.

THRILLING DUEL

The anticipated pitching duel which lured the capacity crowd was indeed a hum-dinger at 20-year-old DeRosa matched Oldham pitch-for-pitch through the first four innings.

In the bottom of the fifth San Jose broke the hitless spell when left fielder Art McBride led off with an infield single to start a three-run explosion, although none of the tallies was earned. A costly error by third sacker John Boccabella kept two Nesbits on base when the side should have been retired. Then shortstop Cookie Camara unloaded a towering home run off the light standard in left field and it was 3-0.

The partisan crowd, which quieted after the fatal fifth inning, exploded with a roar in the top of the seventh when the Plumbers got a real serious threat in the makings. With one out, Don Lauters, Don McGinnis and DeRosa walked in succession and the dangerous Doug Wilson coming to bat with only one away. A groan went up from the stands as teen-aged Doug popped out to first baseman Ed King and a louder groan filled the air when King spotted McGinnis off second base, obviously confused by the infield fly rule, and ran across the diamond to tag out the bewildered Plumber. End of threat.

SAN JOSE RALLY

In the bottom half of the frame the Nesbits broke the game wide open when three singles, a double and an error chased three more tallies across the plate, two of which were earned. Camara drove in one of the runs with a single to boost his runs-batted-in total to four.

Oldham saw his no-hitter go down the drain in the eighth when "Pistol Pete" Arrigoni, the former football flash from Fairfax, drilled a single over second. Arrigoni then stole second, but died there when Oldham struck out Lou Hass and Tim Reardon and got Ralph Boccabella on a fly to right field.

In the ninth Lauters, DeRosa and Wilson walked, but Arrigoni ended the game by popping out to first.

San Anselmo thus became the last of four Marin County teams to be eliminated. Dropping out earlier were the Tiburon Pelicans, Mill Valley Merchants and Marin Buffalows. San Jose, Sabella's and El Cerito are the final survivors of an original field of 24 teams that started the double-elimination tournament on July 29.

Giants Fighting To Regain Fans' Support

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants lost a lot of fans during their present disastrous road trip—but they're making a valiant effort to win them back before returning to Candlestick Park.

The Giants dropped far out of the first division by losing 12 of the first 14 games on their eastern swing. But on their return trip, Manager Clancy Sheehan's troops swept a three-game series with St. Louis to knock the Cardinals out of second place in the National League.

It's still a long way back to San Francisco, and the Giants didn't find any of the St. Louis victories easy. The final score last night was 6-5 and the Cards had two men on when the game ended.

The San Franciscans got a rest today, but they open a four-game series with the Chicago Cubs tomorrow and play one game in Los Angeles before returning home.

Rookie relief pitcher Sherman (Roadblock) Jones posted his first victory. He came in for starter Jack Sanford in the fourth inning, but needed help from Johnny Antonelli in the seventh.

Jones also helped his own cause at the plate. In his only time at bat, he rapped a single and drove in one run.

The Giants had a total of 13 hits off starter Ray Sadecki and four other Cardinals pitchers who followed him. Felipe Alou had two hits including a three-run homer in the third inning, and Bob Schmidt had three-for-five.

Walt Moryn and Daryl Spencer homered for the Cardinals —who were tagged with their sixth straight defeat.

The fifth-place Giants gained some ground on both St. Louis and Los Angeles. They now trail the fourth-place Dodgers by five games and the Cards by 5½.

San Francisco is still 14 games behind the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates, who maintained their 7½-game lead over the Milwaukee Braves.

Witt Scores Again In Junior Net

Redwood High School ace Clyde Witt of Larkspur lived up to his number one ranking yesterday by powering his way through another opponent in the second annual Marin Junior Hardcourt tennis championships at the Mill Valley Tennis Club.

Witt, who has won enough tennis trophies and medals to fill a room, advanced through yesterday's third day of action by downing Mike Alcala in the boys 18 age division.

Yesterday's leading matches:

BIG LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Pirates' Golden Touch Revives Clem Labine

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Eveything the Pittsburgh Pirates touch turns to gold—and that includes Clem Labine, who couldn't make the grade with two other clubs this season.

Labine came to the Bucs with an 0-4 record, having lost one game for Los Angeles and three for Detroit. The right-handed sinker-ball's last victory was against the Philadelphia Phillies on Aug. 1, 1959.

As luck would have it, Labine was sent in by Danny Murtaugh to put down a Phillie uprising in the sixth inning last night, and celebrated his National League return by hurling hitless ball in preserving Harvey Haddix' 5-3 victory.

The triumph enabled the Pirates to retain their 7½ game lead and put Labine in line for his fifth World Series pay check. He played in four classics with the Dodgers.

The New York Yankees had to go 10 innings to defeat the Boston Red Sox, 3-2, and increase their American League lead to 1½ games. Cleveland upended Chicago, 3-2, Washington beat Baltimore, 11-7, in 12 innings and Detroit whipped Kansas City, 5-2.

In other National League games, Milwaukee walloped Cincinnati, 11-4, to take sole possession of second place, San Francisco stopped St. Louis, 6-5, and Chicago shut out Los Angeles, 1-0, on Ernie Banks' ninth-inning homer.

Labine, who holds an 11-9 lifetime record over Philadelphia, struck out six Phillie batters in 3⅔ innings to save Haddix' eighth victory. He entered the game after Philadelphia had scored twice, issued a walk to load the bases and then got John Callison on a forceout. Don Hoak drove in three Pirate tallies with a two-run double in the fourth inning and a sacrifice fly in the eighth.

Milwaukee pounded four Red pitchers for 18 hits, including Hank Aaron's 32nd homer. The Braves scored five runs in the first inning and six in the eighth. Joe Adcock and Johnny Logan each had three hits for Milwaukee as Joey Jay pitched six scoreless innings in relief of Bob Buhl to win his fourth game. Frank Robinson hit his 24th homer for the Reds and Jim O'Toole lost his 11th game.

Ernie Banks broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Glen Hobbie and Don Drysdale when he belted his 34th homer of the year for Chicago. Hobbie latched on to his 11th win while Drysdale suffered his 13th defeat. Tommy Davis had three hits for the Dodgers, extended his batting streak to 17 games, longest by a Los Angeles player this season.

Cleroux Wins Title

MONTREAL (AP) — Bob Cleroux of Montreal is Canada's new heavyweight champion. He won the title last night with a split 12-round decision over Toronto's George Chuvalo who had held the crown for nearly two years.

Chuvalo weighed 210½, Cleroux 206½.

Saturday Deadline For Swimming Meet

Youngsters today were reminded that Saturday noon is deadline for entering the San Rafael Recreation Department's second annual Marin County Swim Meet.

To be held at San Rafael High School on Aug. 24, the meet is open to high school and elementary school students throughout the county. Entries should be sent to Dennis Sullivan at the Recreation Department before noon Saturday.

Mother Nature vs. Bass Anglers; Leopard Sharks, Skates, Are Tasty

STEVENS

Howdy, folks! As we pound out today's article, the slender eucalyptus tree in our back yard stands almost still; not enough wind to cause the leaves to hardly move. We hope it presages a spell of quiet weather. We are entitled to it after the cold, windy, fishless period just past.

We often wonder why we nearly always have rough water, high winds and a dearth of fish on weekends. Nature's method of conversation? For the past five days conditions have mitigated against the striped bass activity we expect to occur from the middle of August until Christmas. Yet, when we contacted some of the boat landings and harbors, we received only loud lamentations of poor attendance and poorer results.

Joe Nerviani of Joe's Launching at Santa Venetia Slough reported a maximum of five bass over the weekend and none on Monday.

The only bright spot in Joe's report was of one of his regular patrons who forewent her usual bass trip in favor of a salmon trolling adventure at Bodega Bay, Mrs. Elenor Laucheneuer caught a 26½-pound salmon trolling by the jetty. The male member of the party failed to register, we understand, and Joe informed that the good Elenor has a bad habit of usually catching the largest fish (bass) on every outing.

ALICE QUAN of China Camp also bewailed the lack of fish from her place. Her bright spot was the feat of another lady angleer. Mrs. Stephen Crane was forced to fish close inshore by the quarry and hooked, played and landed a 20½-pound striper.

Her husband caught a leopard shark and tossed it overboard in disgust. Ironic, eh? That leopard shark could have made a swell meal. Boys and girls, don't throw back a leopard shark if you happen to catch one. If you don't want it, give it to someone who is wise to the fact that it probably tops most of the fish (including bass and salmon) you'll catch in the inland waters.

OH, YES! Skates! Several skates have been taken recently in various sections of San Pablo Bay. To the best of our knowledge each has been killed and thrown back into the bay. How sad, that so very few people realize that a meal of skate wings properly prepared is a true delicacy. Alice Quan told us that a well known restaurateur from S.F. stopped at her place and inquired if any skates had been caught. Should you catch a skate, why not cut off the wings and take 'em home and prepare a very fine feed for your family and a few friends? (A skate tastes a bit like a cross between a crab and a striped bass, according to a famous fish food restaurant.

HOW TO prepare a skate? Well, here's how we do it: As mentioned, we cut the wings away close to the body and throw the rest of the fish away. We place the wings in boiling water for a few minutes, which makes it easy to remove all the skin by scraping with a knife. The flesh now is white. We put some butter in a pan and brown it (careful not to burn it), we add a handful of chopped parsley and let it brown for about a half-minute. We add the juice of one lemon or a teaspoonful of vinegar; pour this over the skate and serve with a baked potato or french fries. Man and Madam, it's delicious!

CAUTION: Don't mistake a stingeree for a skate. Easy to tell the difference. A skate becomes a dead weight when hooked, a stingeree is the essence of activity. The stingeree has a broad blunt nose, a long tail and a dagger-like spine on his tail. The skate has a somewhat pointed nose and appears almost transparent, no poison spine on his tail and is lighter in color.

Dick Treadway nosed out Zeno Gelatti by six pins for high honors in the latest edition of the 540 Scratch League at Greenbrae Lanes.

Treadway totaled 859 pins on games of 233, 206, 216 and 204 while Gelatti posted an 853 total on 184, 226, 198 and 245.

Bob Curtin followed with 804 on a whopping 255 along with 204, 163 and 182.

Olympic Arena Of Intrigue Opens Friday

ROME (AP) — The Olympic Games, eight days away from real competition, moved today into the arena of debate and intrigue.

The International Olympic Committee meets tomorrow to tackle the ever-thorny problem of Nationalist China and find a successor as president to Avery Brundage of Chicago, now apparently not unwilling to be drafted.

The big Finnish and Canadian teams both arrive and the Modern Pentathlon Federation opens sessions, first of the world-wide sports groups to convene.

I.O.C. members huddled through the night in swank hotel rooms and at open air tables on the Via Veneto, Rome's gay white way.

They must decide:

1. Whether to draft Brundage, stern-visaged defender of the amateur code, or choose between Lord David Burghley who won the 400 meter hurdles in 1928, and an Iron Curtain representative.

2. How to find a name under which to admit Nationalist China to these Games.

PLANNING AHEAD

3. When to start the 1964 games in Tokyo. The Japanese are supposed to favor mid-May. The United States and many European nations consider this too early.

Eighty-seven Soviets came in yesterday. Among the star squads still not in Rome are the United States track and basketball teams, both barnstorming.

There has been the usual rash of minor injuries, but only one top flight athlete has been hurt. He is Tsuyashi Yamanaka, Japan's bright hope in the 400 and 1,500 meter swimming events. He fell and bruised his left hip, but the Japanese believe he will be back in the water shortly. If he cannot compete at top speed, the United States' chances in men's swimming would be enhanced.

The United States, which lost the use of Phil Baldwin, Muskegon, Mich., a welterweight boxer because of a kidney infection, petitioned to replace him with Vince Shomo of New York. There was no immediate decision.

The Games open Aug. 25 with nearly 8,000 athletes from 87 nations competing—almost double the entry list of any other games.

Marinites To Open Marina In Richmond

A 20-acre, half-million dollar marina will be opened Saturday at the site of the eastern terminal of the old Richmond-San Rafael ferry.

The new boating and yachting center will be called Red Rock Marina, and is designed to provide the newest and most modern marine facility in the Bay Area.

Directing the operations of Red Rock will be E. N. Kettenhofen, operator of historic Chambers Lodge at Lake Tahoe, Marin County investor and former merchant marine captain; Hector Rubini, well-known Marin County restaurateur and currently owner of San Rafael Joe's, and Angelo Carmilleri, Marin County fishing expert and sporting goods dealer.

When the marina opens, two boat launching ramps and approximately 50 boat berths will be available to sailors and power boat enthusiasts. A coffee shop also will be opened.

Future plans call for two additional boat launching ramps, more than 300 boat berths, a deluxe $250,000 restaurant and bar, and extensive facilities for sports fishing. In addition, the marina will also offer a boat and tackle store, boat service, repair and supplies, and a yacht brokerage.

Kettenhofen will be president of the new corporation, Rubini will be vice president and treasurer, and Carmilleri will be vice president and secretary.

The Red Rock Marina is located on land obtained from the state on a long-term lease, and is considered by fishermen to be located in the center of the best striped bass fishing in the Bay Area.

"We are also planning to build a protective breakwater to provide a sheltered boat harbor before this coming winter," Kettenhofen said.

"Because of Red Rock Marina's proximity to the bay and to deep water, we believe it is ideal for water skiing, sail boating and power cruising, he added.

"The northeast section of the bay has needed a complete marine facility for a long time," Kettenhofen said. "I've owned boats all my life, and I guess our interest in boating was one of the major reasons why Hector, Angelo and I started to develop the Red Rock Marina."

Entrance to the marina will be immediately east of the approach to the toll plaza of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge.

Mill Valley Sets Old Timers Ball Game On Sept. 11

Thirteen former Mill Valley semi-professional baseball players will come out of retirement temporarily on Sept. 11 to play the 1960 Merchants in Mill Valley's annual "Old Timers" game.

The contest, announced recently, will be played at the Optimists Baseball Diamond commencing at 2 p.m.

Among the old timers on the roster is Charley "Buster" Wensloff, who went from Mill Valley sandlots into professional ranks. At one time he pitched for the New York Yankees and saw action in the 1947 World Series.

Mill Valley pharmecists are expected to do land office business in linament on Sept. 12.

NOW...a Sure Cure for WALL-CRACKS!

For generations, folks have been trying to repair wall-cracks by filling them, but always give up in despair. And no wonder. Walls constantly expand and contract with temperature and humidity changes. Brittle crack-fillers compress or pull apart, and open-up or fall out. Until Tuff-Kote, the only way to make a permanent repair was replacing the entire wall.

CRACKS DISAPPEAR FOREVER

Now, however, this problem is solved once and for all by a simple application of Tuff-Kote that spans cracks with a thin, pliable, high-strength patch, instead of filling them. This convenient repair is invisible when painted, stronger that the wall itself, and does the job forever. No chipping, no wire mesh, no fuss or muss. There has never been anything like it. Outstanding advantages for many other home uses, too, indoors and out. Everyone is an expert with Tuff-Kote!

SECOND FLOOR COMING UP—This view, looking north on the Marin civic center, shows forms for side walls and supports for other levels of the Frank Lloyd Wright-designed structure. Upper framework will carry forms for concrete slab second level of the main section of the building. It will be four levels high at this point.

Civic Center Beginning To Take Shape

Marin County Civic Center, designed by the late Frank Lloyd Wright, is getting "off the ground" north of Santa Venetia and can be seen from Redwood Highway and from the Santa Venetia turnoff.

The San Francisco contracting firm of Rothschild, Raffin and Weirick, which is building the first wing of the administration building, reports that the grading of the big parking lot is already completed, and forms for the concrete side walls for the main section of the building are almost ready for pouring.

When finished, this wing of the administration complex will be about 540 feet long and will span two hills. It will eventually support four levels topped by a thin shell concrete dome, housing the library and board meeting rooms.

This wing is intended to contain the office of the superintendent of schools, a data processing unit, and other offices. Construction should be completed in late 1961.

John C. Breckinridge was only 35 years old when he was elected vice president of the United States in 1856.

95 UNCHANGED

Assessor Received 316 Evaluation Protests

A total of 316 protests of assessment were made for Marin County properties on valuations set for the 1960-61 fiscal year, tabulation by the office of the county assessor disclosed today. These came from 167 petitioners.

This compares with 304 protests last year and with more than 3,000 for the year before that, 1958-59, when a reappraisal commission had set up new values for the entire county.

Of this year's protests, the assessor's office reviewed the cases and concurred in revising valuations downward in 198 instances. The board of equalization changed eight and no changes were made in 95. Others were dismissed because of various technical reasons.

By comparison, of last year's 304 appeals, there were 259 lower valuations, 29 were rejected and 16 dismissed.

A tremendous lowering in the number of appeals heard by the board of equalization was effected by "information bureau" treatment of complaints by the assessor's office, according to a spokesman.

Last year when there had been reappraisal in Sausalito, one of these bureaus was set up in Sausalito before the equalization hearings opened. This resulted in probably a record low in appeals later heard.

The same general result came this year, it was said, due to the fact that information bureaus dealt with the early complaints in Mill Valley, Tiburon and Corte Madera.

Reappraisal work is now in progress in San Anselmo, Fairfax, Ross, Kentfield and Kent Woodlands for the 1960-61 rolls.

It is expected that this will be extended to at least part of San Rafael. But the work must be finished and new valuations made ready to go on the rolls by next April, and so the extent that can be taken in will be determined by progress made up to that time.

In general the plan is to take in about one-quarter of the county each year by Assessor Bert W. Broemmel's much-debated "cycle reappraisal program."

Planners Due Marconi Hotel Plea Again

A revised application for use of the old Marconi hotel building at Marshall not only as residence club, but eventually as public hotel, will be considered Tuesday by the Marin County Planning Commission.

When James A. Jeffery first applied with a plan to lease several buildings and 20 acres of the former Marconi radio station, the intention was to form a residence club only and a staff recommendation promptly followed.

But when the matter came up for consideration Aug. 8 this application was withdrawn in order to be widened. The plan now is for immediate establishment of the residence club, with recreational facilities, but including eventual broadening of this use into a hotel open to the public.

An unusual item on the planners' agenda is an application by Elizabeth H. McDaniel to permit extension of a cemetery in the Horseshoe Hill area near Polinas.

The commission will consider a tentative map of Paradise Acres subdivision between Paradise Drive and San Pablo Bay, and approval of plans for the Paradise Cay Marina of the Pullman Building Co.

Sausalito Asks Burglary Report

The Sausalito City Council directed City Manager Charles A. Brown to report Sept. 6 on the number of burglaries in Sausalito over the last two months.

This was suggested by Councilman George E. Keeney Tuesday who said he had had a report that there were 10 burglaries in the last two months.

Brown said today that Police Chief Howard Goerndt reported eight home burglaries during July, none in June. Goerndt asked, Brown said, that people going on vacations notify police, be sure windows and doors are locked and stop papers and milk delivery. They should also lock doors and windows when away for the evening, he said.

The U. S. customs duty on a foreign-made car is 8½ per cent of the vehicle's appraised value.

Sausalito Awards Street Contracts

The Lee Mac Paving Co. Inc of Corte Madera was awarded the contract to improve portions of Cloud View Road and Fourth Street by the Sausalito City Council last night, being low bidders at $1,820.

Other bidders were Ghilotti Bros. Inc of San Rafael bidding $2,169 and Brown-Ely Co. contractors of San Rafael bidding $2 278.

The Princess phone

IT'S LITTLE, IT'S LOVELY. IT LIGHTS!

Here's a new extension phone that's dramatically different in size and styling from any you've ever seen before.

It's small—to take up less room on table or desk—lets you have an extension where space is limited.

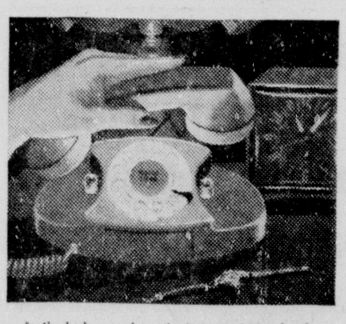
It's modern—for the modern taste asks for beauty with simplicity. Its low, lovely lines will grace any setting in your home.

The dial lights up. It glows in the dark so you can find it quickly and, when you lift the receiver, lights up brightly to make dialing easy.

You can choose from five popular colors—white, beige, pink, blue and turquoise. To enjoy the modern convenience of the Princess phone, just call your local telephone business office. Or ask a telephone service man.

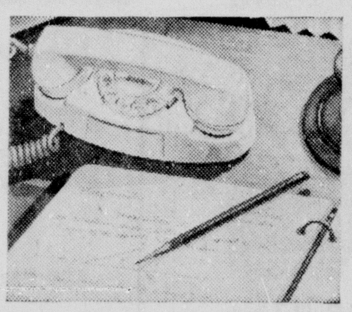
Pacific Telephone
PART OF THE NATION-WIDE BELL SYSTEM

The Princess phone costs just pennies a day after a one-time charge—it's a beautiful extension everywhere...



...In the bedroom where the light-up dial is handy...

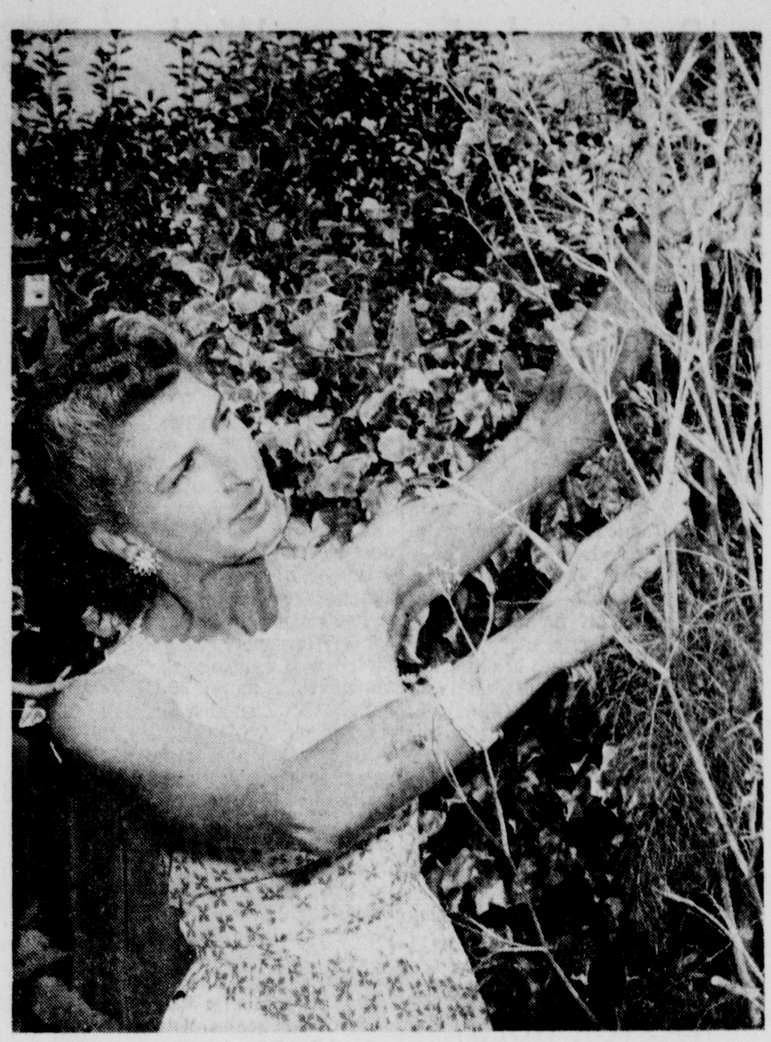
...In the kitchen to help you run your home...



...In a teen-ager's room to give privacy...

...In the living room by your favorite chair

SOME OF THE accomplishments of eight years devoted to butterfly collecting by Mill Valley's Lloyd F. Canham family are displayed by Mrs. Canham and her son, Richard. He is holding a case he intends to donate to the Marin Junior Museum.



MRS. CANHAM searches for butterfly eggs on the anise, which is allowed to grow wild in the back yard. She also finds carrot tops and parsley are good places to look for the eggs, but is very careful to avoid using any of the parsley containing them.

ALMOST THE ENTIRE back yard of the Lloyd F. Canham's home in Mill Valley has been planted with purpose of providing butterfly food and bait. From the pipe vines Mrs. Canham picks a branch with a black and orange caterpillar she expects will develop into a black Swallowtail.

THE LLOYD CANHAM family — father, mother and son—are all perfectionists in the art of butterfly collecting. On one of the mounting boards made by his father, who took up carpentry to provide equipment, Richard fixes a pale Swallowtail in the proper position.

THE FAMOUS butterfly trees in Pacific Grove have a counterpart in Marin, Richard Canham discovered. He holds a branch of butterfly covered Eucalyptus from the trees in Tamalpais Valley, where Monarchs settle by the hundreds.

Butterfly Collecting Has Become Way Of Life Of Lloyd Canhams

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Butterfly collecting is not unusual but with Mill Valley's Lloyd F. Canhams it is, for during the last eight years it has been almost a way of life, not only for their son, Richard, but for mother and father too.

The hobby has determined destinations and times of yearly vacations in order to be at the right place at the right time to collect the right specimens. It has been the reason for many weekend trips for the same purpose.

It has filled evenings with reading books, identification and mounting, and caused Mr. Canham to take up carpentry to provide equipment. It has decided what should be planted when in the garden in order to provide butterfly food and bait.

It has even affected decor and kitchen cupboard arrangements because it insured new drapes every year so that old ones could be dyed and made into butterfly nets. And it has displaced pots and pans to make room for cases to be stored in the right environment, filed according to genus and species.

The hobby began when Richard, in the second grade, caught his first black and yellow Monarch and asked his mother how it could be kept alive or preserved.

That started Mrs. Canham on a search for information that has proved endless.

The family first went to see the famous butterfly trees in Pacific Grove and then found to their surprise that the same thing could be seen in Tamalpais Valley, where the butterflies light by the hundreds on eucalyptus trees instead of pines as they do in Pacific Grove.

Soon the family was wandering all over Marin County, then into various parts of the state and finally, on vacations, from Canada to Mexico.

In no time they had so many specimens that Richard's father took up carpentry in order to avoid spending so much money on the cases in which to mount the specimens.

"Then we started to raise some ourselves," Mrs. Canham explained. "That way we could get perfect specimens when they are most beautiful.

"We planted pipe vines that the caterpillars especially like, parsley, carrots, butterfly bushes and the colored flowers that attract them. Anise, which is like a weed, we allowed to grow because it is a favorite place for the female to lay her eggs. I have to look at the parsley carefully, before using any of it to be sure we don't eat any eggs.

"When the caterpillars are at the right stage, we pick a branch with some leaves on it and put it in a glass jar with the caterpillar, where it goes eventually into chrysallid.

"After the butterfly emerges, we put it to sleep with ether or chloroform or pinch it through the thorax. Then it is ready for drying on the mounting boards."

Then comes the patient work of identifying each specimen by spots, colors and shape under a magnifying glass, and finally mounting in cases.

The next step is trading for other butterflies of different genus and species, or buying them through entomological supply houses. The rare and exotic ones can be very expensive.

According to Richard, California's state butterfly is the "dogface," selected because of its golden color, and named because a spot on its wings looks like a dog's face.

His collection includes more than 500 mounted specimens and hundreds, as yet unmounted, ranging from the tiny pygmie to the large birdwing from the Solomon Islands. He is now interested only in adding an occasional unusually interesting specimen.

In fact Richard and his father are about through with the butterfly era and are starting on the electronic. One led into the other when Richard devised an electrical quiz game arranged so that a light flashes when a certain specimen in a group is identified correctly.

It is Mrs. Canham who retains most interest now in butterflies. She can tell many fascinating tales of butterfly lore and paints butterflies on her stationery during winter evenings.

"Every time I find a caterpillar, I just have to save it and see what it will become," she said. And she has started many little boys on the hobby.

Northgate Luncheons Series Ends Successful 1960 Season

The Northgate Group weekly summer luncheons and fashions shows ended its 14th annual series staged to benefit the Marin Art and Garden Center yesterday on a high note of success.

The final event of this year's luncheons which began July 20 was sponsored by four Marin groups — two Children's Home Society chapters, (Tom Thumb and Jolly Rogers), the Women's Auxiliary to the Marin County Dental Society, and the Lawyers' Wives of Marin. Members oft he groups acted as models, served the many luncheons guests and directed the smooth professional operation by volunteers.

Many long-time members and friends of the Art and Garden Center chose yesterday to entertain. Mrs. Melvin J. Duncan, chairman of the steering committee for the 1960 luncheons, was hostess to Mesdames Edward J. Ruff (president of Northgate), H. Wallace Hickman (commentator of the fashion show), Harold A. McCoy (manager of the Marin Art and Garden Fair), A. E. Wilson, Roland Wilson, Edward Vest, and Grace Graham.

Mrs. James S. Goodale, wife of a board member of the Center, entertained Mesdames Jack L. Hunt, Ralph A. Alden, Frederick Macondray, Frank Brown, Fred Meyer, Philip Nathan.

A no-host table of Northgate members included Mrs. Frank C. Stratford (Art and Garden Center board member), Mrs. Wallace Scott, Mrs. John Meyer, Mrs. Hammond E. Wright and Mrs. Harry Koons.

Mrs. DeWitt K. MacDonald Jr., wife of a San Rafael attorney entertained Mrs. James McKenney, of the Lawyers' Wives and Mesdames Thomas Guerin, Edward Shelton, Robert McCullough.

At a table of Decorations Guild members, Mrs. D. M. C. Ramsey-Raisan was hostess to Mesdames Victor Guilder, Victor Grant, Winston J. Jones, Ione Smith.

An extensive collection of fall clothes from a San Francisco store included coats, knits casual country clothes, the new fur "fakes," fabulous furred suits and a group of late day glamor fashions.

Colors this wall will be bright and vibrant. Amethyst, grape, peacock green, sharp blue and brilliant red were evidenced in the show's salute to color.

Wearable, classic coats in wool tweed, voluminous great-coats with sophisticated collars, coats cut with deep, deep armholes and rounded yokes; easy-flowing fleece coats in a wide silhouette, and slim-lined coats flaring at the hem, offered just the coat for just the person in this coat county.

In a group of knits shown, three-piece costumes were important. Other knits featured included pants and sweater ensembles and soft-lined one piece dresses distinguished by wide crushed leather belts. Town dresses designed for four seasons' wear were shown in wool jersey.

Marin county clothes "to take you from season to season" as Mrs. Hickman pointed out, were a lineup of old and new favorites. A wool plaid Jonathan Logan dress with a wool jersey hood was ready for crisp football days or, with its hood unsnapped, for smart casual wear anywhere. Colors were muted in the informal clothes, the lines were slim and simple. To take one from summer to fall in cool, chic comfort were transitional plaid Dacron and cotton dresses. And of course, pants topped by the indispensible car coat were shown. Country co-ordinates — skirts, shirts and cardigans shown off as a team — featured printed shirts, pleated skirts and cardigans best described as "Les Pouffes."

FAKE FURS

In the "Salute to the New Fur Fakes" collection, coats with the look and feel of the finest nutria, coats with the look of sheared otter, a smart coat pretending to be, in this year of the cat, a leopard, all treated as genuine jungle fur, interested the collegiates and other fashion-wise shoppers in the audience.

The real fur look was stressed as an important fashion this fall in a group of fabulous coats and suits. Elegance was expressed in a creamy beige fleece coat with a collar formed by a circle of pale mink. Soft beaver dyed to match the wool of a coat gave the "all one color look" so desired. Silken red fox on black cashmere distinguished a luxurious coat. Leopard added drama to the simplest of white coats. Most outstanding was a handsome black wool suit with a huge pouff collar of silver fox.

FOR LATE DAY

And because Marin women do not live in casual or daytime clothes, great attention was given in the closing phase of the show to late day glamor fashions.

Each of the models of the show, including Mesdames William McCormick, Robert Freeman, T. H. McCarley, Rex Minshell, Robert Evans, Noel McCarthy, James Rideout, Stanley Crandall, William McKay, Bern Holman, Harold Olson, Maurice rence Glazier Fred Robbins, Lawrence Witter, Melvin Stidham, Charles Convis, was given her spot in the glamor fashion group, and at the end of the show lined the runway with beauty.

For the cocktail hour, slim sheaths and bouffant silhouettes were modeled. Unusual was a gleaming ribbon knit top with a soft peau de soie skirt. The tunic dress was represented in a three-tiered dinner dress of blue faille. Black velveteen reached the height of glamor in a simply cut dress fashioned with a low rounded neckline and a wide border of silk braid adding richness to the full skirt.

Rich satin, fited and draped; slim shafts of black silk topped by short jackets; true dinner dresses of black crepe and beautiful dance gowns of crushed silk with harem hemmed skirts billowing from tiny waistlines added to the gorgeousness of the evening costumes.

For Sliced Peaches

To prevent sliced peaches from getting dark from exposure to air, sprinkle them with lemon or lime juice or drop them into an ascorbic acid solution.

Barbara Jo Ferguson Weds In Corte Madera Church Rite

Barbara Jo Ferguson became the bride of Philip J. Laspina Jr. at a 3 o'clock ceremony Sunday afternoon at Marin Lutheran Church of Corte Madera. Rev. George O. Loftness officiated.

The new Mrs. Laspina who was given in marriage by her father, J. Stanley Ferguson, of Corte Madera wore a full length white lace gown with a short train, fashioned with long sleeves, a round neckline and snug fitting bodice. Her three-fourth length veil was held in place by a pearl and lace crown. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and white roses.

Barbara Jo's older sister, Patricia, who is Mrs. James Mann of Livermore, was matron of honor.

She and the two bridesmaids, Shirley Webster of San Francisco and Susan Gilbert of Corte Madera, wore ballerina-length dresses of pink organza.

The matron of honor carried American Beauty roses to match her veil. The bridesmaids' bouquets were of lighter pink roses, matched by their veils.

Best man at the double ring ceremony was Donald Carroll of San Francisco. Guests were seated by James Halsing and Joseph Pucci, both of San Francisco.

Mrs. Ferguson chose a full-skirted dress of powder blue organza for her daughter's wedding. She and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Philip J. Laspina of San Francisco who wore a dress of rose lace, each had rose-colored orchid corsages.

Harriet Forguson of San Francisco, a classmate of the bride, sang two solos, "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." The organist was Ellen Rosell of Larkspur.

One hundred and fifty guests attended the wedding reception at Bob's of Marin in Corte Madera. Gardenias circled a three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with music staffs as both the bride and her husband are musicians.

Barbara Jo, a soprano, will enter her senior year as a music major this fall at San Francisco State College. She is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, music sorority at San Francisco State. She was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School. She has a brother, William R. Ferguson of Phoenix, Ariz.

The new benedict is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip J. Laspina of San Francisco. He is a graduate of San Francisco State College and obtained his master's degree in music at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y. He is now a member of the music faculty at San Francisco State College and is the first trombonist with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

The newlyweds, now honeymooning for two weeks at Lake Tahoe, will be at home at 282 Mangeles Avenue, San Francisco.

BRIDE-ELECT HONOR GUEST AT SHOWER

Miss Mary Ann Papina of Nicasio received many lovely gifts at the bridal shower given for her Saturday night at the home of her aunt, Mrs. James Papina of San Francisco. Mary Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Papina of Nicasio will become the bride of Vern Cheda of Point Reyes on Sept. 4 at St. Rita's Church in Fairfax.

Pirate bingo was played at the party and refreshments were served. Co-hostesses at the party were Misses Charlene Rich and Barbara Papina.

Among those present were Mrs. Bud Papina and daughter, Janet; Mrs. Joseph Dentoni and daughter, Kathryn; Mrs. Mary Lafranchi and Mrs. James Rogers of Nicasio, Mrs. Ralph Cheda of Point Reyes, Mrs. Willard Fesler of San Rafael, Mrs. Lester Beretta and daughter, Linda, of Orinda; Mrs. Tony Naples of San Mateo, Mrs. Ray Petersen of South San Francisco, Mrs. George Compagno of Daly City, Miss Josie Beretta, Mesdames Al Papina, Peter Rich, John Arnolfo, Walter Poncetta, Annie Papina and James Papina of San Francisco.

Turkey Prices

This fall, turkey prices will average one to two cents below prices received during the same period last year.

For Counter Space

When planning a new kitchen, include at least 18 inches of heat-proof counter space next to the range for a convenient spot to rest hot pans.

Tamalpais Circle Slates Style Show

Final plans for a fashion show on Sept. 14 were completed when members of Tamalpais Circle 183, United Ancient Order of Druids met recently in the Mill Valley IOOF Temple.

Mrs. Edward Beach, who has modeled professionally, will be in charge of the event to be held at the Country Club Bowl in San Rafael.

During the meeting conducted by Mrs. James Rhoades, names of members who will model fashions provided by a Mill Valley shop were announced. They are Mesdames William Ellis, Daniel Byrne, Eugene Stone, William Lassner, Alan Haggerty and Marv Webster.

Aug. 23 is the date set for the official visit of the grand archdruidess, Josephine Leos. It will take place in the IOOF Temple, Mill Valley. Assisting the refreshments chairman, Mrs. Chet Solberg, will be Mrs. Marguerite Carpenter.

African Girl An Aide To Scout Program

With the attention of the world focused on the African situation, Marin County Girl Scouts have established a "people to people" relationship in their established Treasure Mountain Camp at Sierraville. Through the employment of Miss Joyce Karago, an exchange student from Kenya, Africa, a wealth of program material has been provided for Scouts and increased their understanding of the African people.

Miss Karago, known to the girls in camp as "Kenya," has been a member of the Kenya Girl Guides, a sister-organization of the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., and has had the thrilling experience of climbing Mt. Killmanjaro, the highest in Africa, with a group of Girl Guides.

During the second session of camp, under "Kenya's" direction the girls improvised grass skirts from the long needles of the ponderosa pines which grow profusely on the campsite and learned and performed native African songs and dances. They also held a simulated African picnic in one of the beautiful meadows at the camp.

Twenty-four girls are assigned to the unit under the leadership of Miss Karago, but their experiences are shared in special events with the entire camp of 106 girls. She is assisted in her unit by Miss Linda Voss, a junior at the University of California at Berkeley, and Miss Barbara Ford, a recent graduate of Tamalpais High School and a member of Marin county's patrol to the National Senior Girl Scout Roundup held at Colorado Springs in 1959.

Treasure Mountain camp is now in its third and last two week session for this summer. It has been directed by Mrs. Walter Carter of San Anselmo Its further development is part of the Marin County Girl Scout Council's recently adopted Ten Year Plan for which county-wide support is being sought.

Dallara Clan Growing Fast

Mrs. Anthony Dallara of San Rafael hit the jackpot with the arrival of three great grandsons in five days. On Monday her grandson, Raymond Dallara of Fairfax, and his wife had a boy. On Saturday her granddaughter, Mrs. A. R. Briones of Fairfax (Dorothy Dallara) and her husband rejoiced on the arrival of their first son. They have three daughters. Raymond and Dorothy are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lou Dallara of Fairfax. On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Charles Taylor, granddaughter of Mrs. Anthony Dallara and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Brown (Mary Dallara) of San Anselmo had her first child, a son.

Two grandchildren of the San Rafael resident were born earlier this year. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dallara of Sonoma, welcomed a daughter in February. A son was born to Mrs. James Curry (Florence Dallara) of Sacramento in April. Mrs. James Bricker, a granddaughter of Mrs. Dallara and daughter of Mrs. William Mager (Enes Dallara) gave birth to a son in May.

A Baby Makes Three In Hedbergs' Home

A daughter named Julie Sophie makes three in the household of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hedberg of Concord. Mrs. Hedberg is the former Sally Bodine of Mill Valley.

The baby, the Hedbergs' first child, was born Aug. 10 at Concord Community Hospital. She weighed seven and a half pounds.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hedberg of Albany, N.Y., and Mrs. Eddie Bodine of Mill Valley.

The diamond dust makes the point capable of withstanding all the pressures of writing, the manufacturer said.

New Steam Iron

A new steam or dry iron has a stainless steel water tank that cannot corrode or rust, and exclusive steam-flow vents to supply a cushion of rolling steam. It also has a heating element that produces heat in 20 seconds and makes steam in 90 seconds. The iron weighs three pounds.

Omicron Alpha Plans Barbecue

The patio of the Jack Lentz's home in Mill Valley will be the setting Saturday night for a western style barbecue to be given by Mill Valley's Omicron Alpha chapter of Beta Sigma Phi at 7 o'clock.

The president, Mrs. Richard A. Wunderlich, reports that about 21 couples are expected to attend the informal affair, for which cottons and jeans will be in order.

Assisting Mrs. Lentz with the party are Mesdames Alfred Rossi, Jack Megarity and Ralph Skippen.

New Gift Wrapping

A new gift wrapping material can also be used to make decorative covers and lingerie cases. It is a soft plastic which encloses delicate bits of green leaves, sequins and confetti. Left over pieces of the material can be made into cases, book covers, place mats and a host of other decorative accessories by heat-sealing the edges of the plastic with an iron. EXPLORING MARIN WATERS — Cruising down the bay yesterday were the "Birch Bark Ladies" of Mill Valley, a group interested in canoeing. They left from Richardson Bay Bridge, made it to the Sausalito Yacht Dock in an hour and a half. Parasols helped them catch the wind and speed the trip. (Independent-Journal photo)

THREE TO A CANOE

'Birch Bark Ladies' Cruise Down Bay

The "Birch Bark Ladies" of Mill Valley, wearing straw hats and carrying parasols, cruised down the Bay in canoes yesterday to the music of the ukelele and recorder.

It was the first trip for the ladies as a group, though most of them are experienced canoeists with their families.

Mrs. Margaret Duncan Greene of 61 Morningsun Avenue explained that they plan other trips to explore Marin waterways.

Yesterday's canoe voyage took them from the Richardson Bay Bridge to the Sausalito yacht dock and lunch at Ondine's in one and a half hours.

There were seven women in three canoes. The old vessels have been remade by Peter Pell of Mill Valley, husband of one of the ladies. Mrs. Lee Rein played the ukelele and Mrs. Richard Hood the recorder as the canoes moved down the bay.

The parasols were to catch the wind whenever possible, and they carried a fog horn to maintain the right of way.

Other members of the group were Mrs. John Geary, Mrs. Robert Scott, and Mrs. Arthur Seibert.

There were lots of other persons canoeing about the bay, too, the ladies noticed.

Waiting to greet them at the yacht dock were their "sponsors," Mrs. Fred McNabb and Mrs. Helen Pell, mother and mother-in-law of Mrs. Peter Pell, and Mrs. David Duncan, mother of Mrs. Greene.

"We thought it would be fun," said Mrs. Greene, and so it was.

There are about 360 islands in the group known as the Bermudas.

Marin Democrats Open Headquarters Tomorrow

Central headquarters for the Marin Democratic Party will be opened tomorrow in downtown San Rafael. There will be a party rally, free souvenirs and refreshments.

The headquarters at 1325 Fouth Street will be the first of three to be opened in the county. Others are planned in Sausalito and Novato.

Harold Morgan, chairman of the Marin Democratic County Central Committee, announced these chairmen for the county campaign:

Volunteers, Lee V. Holman of Mill Valley; precinct organization and Dollars for Democrats, Rebecca Watkin, Kentfield; special events, Ernest Schallinger, Novato; publicity, Helene Nemschoff, Kentfield; campaign material distribution, Young Democrats; Miller for Congress campaign, Morgan; Matzen for Assembly campaign, Joseph Wilson, San Rafael.

Edwin J. McCarthy, San Anselmo, has been named sponsor of the Young Democrats, to be assisted by Mrs. Mary Weiss of San Rafael.

In addition, Morgan has named Robert Carrow of Novato, Samuel W. Gardiner of San Rafael, Albert Gately of San Anselmo, Gerald N. Hilland Mrs. Samuel Swadesh of Mill Valley to a Central Committee Executive Committee.

Representing the Marin Democratic Assembly in the campaign organization are Nathaniel Guyol, MDA chairman of San Rafael, Peter Diffley of San Rafael, Mrs. Nemschoff of Kent Woodlands, Wyman Hicks of Sausalito.

Mrs. Swadesh will serve as campaign coordinator.

WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR 30 DAYS

Precipitation will be below normal and temperatures above normal in the Bay Area for the next 30 days, these maps indicate. Based on U.S. Weather Bureau forecasts, they predict the national outlook for the next 30 days.

Fairfax Voters Want Tougher Education

A portion of Fairfax voters feel that work assigned children in Fairfax schools is not as challenging as it could be, nor is there enough of it.

This trend of thought has been revealed in an evaluation of a public opinion survey just completed by the Fairfax School District in co-ordination with volunteer-parent workers.

The evaluation made by District Supt. Homer L. Sisk, was a result of questionnaires sent in June to 1,685 registered voters in the school district. Only some 300 of the forms have been returned.

(It wasc onjectured at the board of trustees meeting Tuesday that perhaps the forms should have been sent out during the school year "when parents are interested in school," and that the forms should have been shorter).

The evaluation stated that a majority of parents questioned felt that more home work should be assigned, while at the same time they were of the opinion that not enough time was given to "slow learners."

The questioned favored foreign language programs for district schools.

Those parents who want their children to go to college numbered 213.

About half of those questioned believed that teachers were paid enough, while all but 12 persons questioned agreed that "teachers exercise a great deal of influence on the lives of their pupils."

Most Fairfax voters questioned felt that there was a need to keep voters more informed on the district, especially on financial matters.

The evaluation pointed out that a regular superintendent's news letter to the public was forthcoming.

In other areas, voters felt that schools should use letter grades A, B, C, D and F on report cards and that the grades should "reflect both the individual's ability," as well as his class standing. As far as the size of classes was concerned, voters agreed that the present system was about right (26 to 36 pupils per class).

Some 200 persons answered that the same type of bus transportation that has been made available in the past, be continued. The evaluation stated that "unfortunately the questionnaire did not state that the cost of running a school bus could be as much as 5 cents on each $100 of assessed valuatiton, plus the purchase price of a new bus."

District board president Fay Jensen expressed "hope that those who still have the questionnaires will answer them and send them in."

Sisk said that some 100 questionnaires will be sent to voters in one precinct that was inadvertently omitted in June. He also stated that a policy of tapping public opinion will be continued.

Dance Scheduled

State Party Platforms Are Nothing But Eye-Wash

If there was any doubt previously that state political platforms are nothing but eye-wash, it seems impossible that there is doubt any longer.

On consecutive weekends first the Democrats, then the Republicans met in convention in Sacramento to adopt their platforms and to elect officers for the political struggle which is upon us. Elect they did.

Then they turned their attention to the "platform."

Both parties had the same experience-Interest of the delegates lagged so materially and the attractions of sleep or the neighboring night spots were so compelling that neither party was able to finish its platform discussion. So many delegates walked out there was no longer a quorum present.

Lack of a quorum usually doesn't bother such a group. They go on passing plank after plank, resolution after resolution without noticing that practically everyone has gone home. They then come to a plank to which some delegate objects. He arises, calls attention to the lack of a quorum and the meeting is over.

You'd think that would be the end of the platform. Not necessarily so. The next day the party's executive committee passes some resolutions and makes them a part of the platform.

In the end the platform is something party members cite if they happen to agree, and ignore if they disagree. It is a set of vague, broad statements of policy often capable of varied interpretation.

As someone else has put it, "a party platform must be broad enough so that a candidate can run on it, and not so narrow that he has to stand on it."

Both parties could do better if they asked some nationwide eye-wash dealer for his formula.

'WHAT ABOUT MY FEET?'

No Dirty Worms For These Birds!

Mrs. Otis Smith of Larkspur, one of Marin County's leading bird watchers, recently told us of an interesting sight she observed at her bird bath.

A Brewers blackbird, one of those dusky fellows with yellow eyes and a purplish-black head, flew up to her bird bath with its beak full of worms and proceeded to wash them by dipping them in and out of the water.

Believing her eyes might have been playing tricks on her ("It was pretty early in the morning," she says), Mrs. Smith kept a sharp eye out. Sure enough, three times that morning the blackbird returned to the bird bath to wash food.

We do not know whether this is an isolated case of feathered fastidiousness on the part of the blackbird or if it is a fairly common occurrence. But we felt it was interesting and decided to pass it along.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

PATIENT ROBS DOCTOR

Few doctors are robbed by a patient on the operating table but one in Augusta, Georgia, had just that strange experience recently.

While preparaing to sew up the wound of a man in the emergency room of the local hospital, the doctor took off his wrist watch and ring and put them on a stand nearby.

A call took him out of the room for a minute. Upon his return, both patient and jewelry had vanished.

Such an incident certainly tests man's faith in his fellowman. But we should never forget that all the sons of Adam are afflicted with the same inherent weaknesses. It is a never ending task to help man rise above his tendencies to evil. God gives the needed graces but expects man's cooperation.

Keep in mind that the world will never be any better than the people in it. This will help you guard against your own instability and show a patient perseverance in the Christlike work of redeeming others.

"Everyone shall help his brother and shall say to his brother: Be of good courage." —(Isaias 41:6)

Help me, O Holy Spirit, to both recognize my own weaknesses and show an understanding for those of others.

Office Ailments Short-lived But Can Last All Year Around

NEW YORK (AP)—There are at least 365 recognized medical ailments, one for each day of the year.

But in the modern U.S. business world there are a number of other diseases science has never named. They probably cause more lost time and wasted motions — and perhaps more ulcers — than all the illnesses mentioned in a medical dictionary.

Here are a few of these mysterious maladies you can probably find in your own office:

"One-day pneumonia"—Familiar to every personnel director as a synonym for a hangover. Usually strikes on Monday. Victim makes miraculous recovery during day and shows up Tuesday morning chirping like a bluebird.

"Afternoon sickness"—Patient has three martinis and a parfait for lunch. Snores at desk until quitting time.

"Petty cash aphasia"—The new office boy suddenly trembles and becomes speechless when questioned about $3.58 shortage in the stamp drawer.

"Daily doublitis"—A gnawing compulsion by employee to go to nearest pay phone to call bookie each afternoon shortly before start of first race at nearest horse track.

"Foot-in-mouth disease"—The junior executive who compliments the boss on his 64th birthday by saying, "Just one more to go, eh chief?"

"Sinecure syndrome"—The state of utter panic experienced by the office goof-off when he learns the firm has hired an efficiency expert.

"MORNING STUPOR"—A cerebral haze which grips approximately half of entire staff until they get 10:30 a.m. coffee break.

"The 5:15 p.m. myopia"—This malady makes it impossible for the stenographer to discover any misspelled words in any letter she finishes just before quitting time.

"POST-VACATION trauma"—Characterized by a vacant look and an inability to settle down into the old rut. Usually disappears after a week or two. If it doesn't the employee disappears.

"Do you panic easily . . .?"

10 YEARS AGO

Tiburon Peninsula residents with Mill Valley mailing address were to be circularized as to whether they would prefer a Tiburon mailing address.

Marin County Dist. Atty. Albert E. Bagshaw announced he had decided to quit and establish private practice in San Rafael as soon as he could find office space.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Health, Smell Situation Better

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Today's I-J (Aug. 14) carried an interesting "10 Years Ago" item:

"Marin residents with a view of the Bay were complaining that the smell was far from lovely . . . The sewage bother will abate with the installation of treatment plants . . ."

Thanks to the enlightened and progressive people of the Corte Madera area, we will soon have a greatly improved health (and smell) condition in and about our environs.

Vote Of Thanks For Law Officers

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I have followed with interest the protests of parents concerning the "tree house incident." Correct me if I'm wrong but I believe the ban was placed on tree houses in woods, vacant lots and unattended areas, not on a person's own private property.

Having six children of my own I know that children are not "little angels," that they require constant supervision and guidance, and are not capable of deciding right from wrong, so the parent must be there to guide them.

How can this be if they are treed away from the home? Children are not naturally mean and vicious but they do have active, exploratory minds and an enormous amount of energy that has to be spent and a tree house above a watchful eye is a good thing.

We should thank the Good Lord that we have an efficient law enforcement body. They bring little wanderers - away back home when they are small, guard them at play, at cross walks, athletic events and activities too numerous to mention. Then when they get older, they watch them when they are behind the wheel of a car and I have never found them harsh at any time for law infractions. We should give a vote of thanks to our law enforcement officers of Marin County, all of them, city, county and state.

MRS. H. MUELLER
San Rafael.

Brickbat Hurler Missed Target

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

On Aug. 6, the Independent-Journal carried its regular feature, "Bouquets and Brickbats." I do not know who was engaged in your weekly target practice on this particular day. However, in one respect, the target was missed by a rather substantial margin.

You state, "A brickbat in the directiton of court house red tape which apparently is going to deprive several churches of their traditional tax exemptions." The laws of this state (adopted by the State Legislature and not any court house officials) explicitly require county officials to deny to any church, or other organization normally entitled to a tax exemption, all right to this exemption if the application therefor is not filed each year prior to a specified date. This requirement is beyond the control of any county official. The mandate of the state law is direct and clear.

The Independent - Journal has stood for the proposition that our property tax laws should be applied objectively and without favor. This proposition requires that when any state tax laws, as presently constituted, appears unduly harsh, we should seek its revision by the State Legislature. However, the fact that such laws are harsh does not justify any county official in disregarding them. The Independent-Journal has in the past decried the practice of any county official injecting his own decision as to whether a given taxpayer is to be treated in accordance with the provisions of state law.

If we disagree with the requirement of state law that the tax exemption is to be denied if application is not filed prior to the established deadline, let us make our complaints known to the State Legislature. No good is accomplished by criticizing county officials for upholding the very laws they are sworn to uphold.

LELAND H. JORDAN
County Counsel of Marin County.
San Rafael

(Ed. Note: But Article XIII of the State Constitution says, "All buildings and so much of the real estate on which they are situated as may be required for the convenient use and occupation of said buildings, when the same are used solely and exclusively for religious worship, shall be free from taxation . . ." Is it not then un-constitutional to force churches to pay such taxes?)

Board Should Act On Mental Health

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

By rejecting the recommendation of its Mental Health Advisory Committee to expand Marin- County's mental health services under Short-Doyle, the Board of Supervisors voted contrary to the expressed desire of social welfare agencies, P-TAs., parents groups, nursery schools, school boards, service and labor organizations, professional groups, churches and individuals who wrote the board and made appeals in person. The board received many more letters urging them to act on the recommendation than urging them to reject it.

At the budget session Aug. 10, the whole gamut of opinion was expressed from sweep-the-dirt under- the - carpet and - maybe - it - will - go-away, or Dr. Dufficy's "there is no need for such a program" to the humanitarian expression of Supervisor Fusselman: mental illness is a problem, we have to do something about it, "but not under Short-Doyle."

Clearly the need has been demonstrated. Will the board now appoint a mental health advisory committee to investigate the feasibility and cost of establishing a broadened mental health services program without benefit of state aid? And will this committee present its findings so the board may consider it in the budget for the next fiscal year?

Who is there who can figure out not only in terms of time and money but of human suffering the undue delay in needed treatment or diagnosis what the cost will be? Or how costly through lack of prevention?

Mrs. Schultz and Mr. Gnoss are to be heartily congratulated for voting in the best interests of the people of Marin County.

CLARICE T. KRAEMER
San Rafael

The Independent-Journal welcomes letters but reserves the right to condense or edit out salacious material.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Bill Feather in a whimsical mood, cased the office of a small printing plant down South and discovered that the male members answered proudly to the following given names: Lum, Dub, Teel, Zack, Quince, Seph, Zeb, Clem, Wash, and Sim. And oh, yes: the boss' name was Eustace!

In a Texas elementary school, reports Paul Crume, a teacher asked her sixth graders to define a pronoun.

"A pronoun," answered one youngster—obviously a devotee of the sports sections—"is a noun that's been around a long time—long enough to be a pro."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

Even After An Early Vacation Wanderer Can Enjoy Marin

It's a long summer when you've taken a vacation in May or June and must sit back and wistfully watch everyone else go off on trips.

When you have that most incurable of diseases, wanderlust, no help are the gay travel ads that beckon you to faraway places . . . or the postcards from friends who are having wonderful times.

And when you drive across the Golden Gate Bridge and glimpse a luxury liner steaming its way west, you start dreaming of all the places you haven't seen.

WEEKEND TRAVEL can provide some consolation, though. Living in Marin, I've found, is a delight for anyone with a restless spirit. Name your scenery—hills, bay, ocean, forests, and beautiful views—and you have it here.

If you want to roam farther, with Marin as the hub it's possible to see much of Northern California on a weekend, and enjoy a wonderful variety of interesting and scenic spots.

A trip my husband and I have made twice—and plan to make again in cooler weather—takes you to the Mother Lode country where, if you're adventurous, there's still gold to be found (or so they say).

YOU CAN BUY a pan and find a likely stream to start your hunt. You can wander through the picturesque old gold rush towns.

And when you're tired, stop off in one of the most fascinating places—little Volcano—and in an old-fashioned ice cream parlor have the best-tasting and biggest sundae you've ever eaten.

If the sea is your love, you can drive north on winding Highway 1. The surf is wild and the cliffs are steep, and the wind blows hard against fishermen's lines.

There's driftwood to be found on the lonely beaches, and abalone if you're there at the right time.

IF YOU LIKE to camp, as we do, take Highway 1 south to Santa Cruz, then drive inland a short distance on Route 17. There you can set up camp in a grove of redwoods, where it's cool and quiet, and unbelievably peaceful.

The noise and entertainment of the boardwalk and the sunny beach are just a few miles away if you want them. And the beach is wide and clean, with thick sand and plenty of room for lots of people.

My friend Betty Alice is flying here from New Jersey next month for her first visit to Northern California, and we are looking forward to showing her the beautiful Bay Area, and especially Marin.

I WANT HER to see the view from the hills of Sausalito; it reminds you of Lake Como in Italy, one of my coworkers vows. And the view of San Francisco from Vista Point, of course, can't be missed.

We plan to take her for a drive across Marin's rugged hills and up Mt. Tam; around the Tiburon peninsula to see all the bay spread out before her; and we can't miss the awesome grandeur of Muir Woods.

Betty Alice, too, is an inveterate traveler and sightseer. We think she's going to like it here.

Antarctic Treaty Illustrates How Minority Threatens Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON — The 21 votes which were marshaled against the Antarctic Treaty—just eight short of enough to block it—shows how perilously near we can come to having important foreign policies ruled by minority opinion.

The fact is that the constitutional requirements that a treaty can come into force only by a two-thirds vote of the Senate, today operates to exactly the opposite effect it was originally intended.

Certainly the purpose of the two-thirds rule was to make sure that major foreign policy commitments would rest upon overwhelming public and senatorial support.

BUT THE EFFECT of the two-thirds rule in today's world is that it is always within the reach of a small minority to determine some major U. S. course in foreign policy.

This may sound paradoxical, but I think I can demonstrate that it is true.

Here is the reason:

Take the Antarctic Treaty in which the United States joins with 11 other nations to make the subcontinent an area of military bases inspectable without veto, and devoted exclusively to scientific exploration.

THIS TREATY represents a significant venture in relations between the Soviet Union and the free world. It provides an experiment in unlimited inspection and free access. It provides that the Antarctic will be a peaceful preserve to be studied for the advantage of the whole world. It guarantees that there will be no nuclear testing under, on, or above its surface.

The treaty surrenders no territorial claims by the United States or any other country and prevents the Soviets and others from making territorial claims during its duration.

Now, what I am suggesting is that there are two courses of action which the Senate could take and that either one is a tremendously important decision.

The Senate could reject it. This would mean that the United States would be leading the world away from an opportunity to try out a significant, veto-less agreement with the Soviet Union. This course of action would have very far-reaching consequences.

The Senate could approve it—as it did. This means that the United States is helping the world carry forward the patient and painful negotiations on which we have been working on many fronts for several years. We will soon be able to see whether a safe agreement with the Soviets will be a workable agreement.

THE POINT I am making is that either decision — either rejection or ratification—commits the United States to a very meaningful course of action.

Rejection would commit the U. S. to a reversal of the whole effort to negotiate with the Soviets and to try to reach useful, enforceable agreements.

Approval commits the U. S. to carry forward its efforts to reduce and resolve the conflicts between the Soviets and the free world.

Either decision is a very large commitment.

But under the two-thirds rule the commitment of doing something must be approved by a majority of 2-to-1 while the commitment of doing nothing, which can have equally far-reaching consequences, can be made by a minority of one-third of the Senate plus one.

TEACHERS VOLUNTEER HELP

Fairfax Schools Approve Of Foreign Language Plan

The Fairfax School District has been authorized by its board of trustees to utilize federal funds available for foreign language programs in elementary schools.

District Supt. Homer L. Sisk reported that the federal government will provide matching funds for all materials used by children in elementary schools' foreign language programs. They will not, however, provide funds for tuition and other necessities for in-service training of teachers to lead the program, said Sisk.

"I'm very proud to say that our teachers have unselfishly agreed that they would be willing to pay their own tuition and other costs to get the training. They told me they felt it was 'their professional responsibility as teachers' to do this," he said.

Sisk said a program will be put into effect into the elementary and junior high levels, probably dealing with the Spanish language. He declared that the teacher training would be done in coordination with San Francisco State College.

Specifics and other details of the program would be announced later, he said.

Bruce McDonald, principal of Fairfax Central and Deer Park schools, gave a report to the board during its Tuesday night meeting on a foreign language study group, sponsored by the federal government, in San Francisco recently.

McDonald, before the board's authorization of a language program for Fairfax schools, related the "remarkable success" of a new oral-lingo method of teaching languages. He said it contrasted to the traditional method of teaching in that it made students hear and speak the language before learning to write it.

He said experts at the study conference pointed out that programs cannot turn out bilingo children in six years, but rather that it can prepare them for language study in high school and college, as well as allow them to master accents (it was reported that children as early as four years of age can more easily master language accents, but that they take twice as long to learn a given amount as an adult).

McDonald said that although there was disagreement among experts, it was generally believed that the purpose of a program included broadening a child's cultural background as well as preparing him for a better understanding of international relations, as well as as give him a foundation to become a bi-linguist.

The board also heard a report from Manor School Principal Kenneth Lucas on a science workshop for teachers.

Lucas explained a display of inexpensive science materials teachers could use to more clearly and effectively teach and interest students in physical science.

Among the materials he showed was a cigar box containing instruments that could be used to demonstrate almost any basic experiment to pupils; the cost of the kit was about 30 cents, said Lucas.

He suggested that each classroom have a science display which would vary from time to time. Field trips for teachers are provided by various industrial companies from which teachers could gain invaluable knowledge as well as materials to use in the classroom, Lucas said.

Supt. Sisk told the board that the district is going to intensify its programs in the field of science, math and language, "and especially in English."

The first subway in the United States was opened in Boston in 1897.

Garden Society Meeting Slated

Three members of the Garden Society of Marin will speak on their gardening specialties at a meeting of the society Friday at 8 p.m. in the chemistry room, College of Marin, Kentfield.

Mrs. C. J. Flack of Kentfield will speak on hydrangeas for mass color; Eugene E. Cable of Sausalito will talk about cascading chrysanthemums; and Captain L. F. Teuscher of Pt. Reyes Station will speak on taxonomy (systematic arrangement of plants in groups according to their natural relationships).

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Aug. 18, the 231st day of the year, with 135 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its new quarter.

The morning star is Mars.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1587, Virginia Dare was born at Roanoke Island, N. C., first child born in America of English parents.

In 1856, the first milk to be condensed was patented but the patent office doubted the commercial value of the invention.

In 1896, Adolph Ochs took over control of the New York Times.

In 1914, Germany declared war on Russia.

In 1914, President Woodrow Wilson issued his proclamation of neutrality to the nations at war in World War I.

In 1919, the Anti-Cigarette League of America was organized in Chicago.

A thought for today: U. S. President Woodrow Wilson said: "The world must be made safe for democracy."

The Right Hobby Will Enrich The Life Of Your Youngster

We have a live rattlesnake in our back yard. His name is "Jonesy." He buzzes when we come near.

Are we crazy? No. Jonesy lives in a very strong, completely snakeproof cage. His companions are "Jack Kennedy," and "Dick Nixon," two garter snakes. The three seem to be buddies.

Why the snakes? Our nephew lives next door. He is a big, cautious, braiiny teen-ager. Snakes have been his hobby for years. He had no place for this particular cage, so we let him put it in our yard. I don't recommend rattlesnakes to you.

Our own kids have less hazardous hobbies. They run to carefully constructed model airplanes, cars and boats. Or to rock collections, with each specimen properly classified and labeled. One teen-age daughter spends endless hours mastering the intricacies of a medieval flute. Another writes sad songs about unrequited love.

As I say, I do not recommend rattlesnakes as hobbies. But I do recommend almost anything else. Children need the release which hobbies bring. They live busy lives. They have more anxieties than you realize. They need to get away from all of it for a few hours, buried in a beloved hobby. They come back stronger.

The best years for hobbies are during the elementary grades. Then our children have relatively little homework. They aren't tied up with social activities. They have time to follow their interests. In high school and college they may be too busy.

Do your children have hobbies? If not, expose them to many things. Don't force them. Eventually the right hobby will come along. They'll thank you all their lives.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "Our 11-year-old wets his bed. Our doctor says just to wait for him to get over it. I've heard of an electric device which flashes a light and rings a bell when the sheets are dampened. Does it really help children overcome bedwetting?" M.N.

(A) It helps some children, but seems to make others worse. I suggest you follow your doctor's advice.

Dixie School Registration Hours Slated

Parents of pupils who have not previously attended Dixie School District schools should register them at the school in their community from 9 a.m. to noon Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Supt. Dennie B. Willis announced today.

To enter kindergarten, pupils must have reached age four years and nine months on or before Sept. 1. To enter first grade pupils must have reached age five years and nine months on or before Sept. 1.

Children entering kindergarten or first grade for the first time must have proof of age in the form of a birth certificate, baptismal record or notarized affidavit.

United Nations Seat Requested By Cyprus

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—The newly independent Republic of Cyprus today applied for United Nations membership.

The Security Council was expected to take favorable action at an early meeting. Final approval would be given by the General Assembly at its session opening Sept. 20.

Marinite Cites Challenge Of E. Europe Market

By BRUCE COLEMAN

American business men are missing a good thing by not trying to sell their products to the Eastern European market, William F. Rand of Sausalito said today.

Rand, with his wife, Barbara, has returned from a year's tour visiting seven countries for Pan American World Airways to make a study of tourist facilities for the American tourist.

They visited East Germany, Poland, Czechoslavakia, Hungary, Roumania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia.

These countries have dollars to spend, Rand said, but the things which are bought are coming from countries such as West Germany, Holland and Sweden — not the United States.

They did meet an American salesman in Belgrade who was trying to sell lubricants to a Yugoslavian copper plant. But the Texan was one of the very few American salesmen they met.

"We went down to Dubrovnik," said Rand. "They had linens from Italy, silverware from West Germany. But nothing American except the tractors and farm equipment in the fields."

Eastern Europe, or Soviet Europe, is Communist, Rand said. But it is also terribly nationalistic, each country having its own language and its own past history of development.

In Hungary the Rands saw an American motel which had been bought at the Brussels World Fair. "They are trying to duplicate five more exactly like it," Rand said. But they couldn't. For example, there wasn't a single mattress company which could turn out an inner spring mattress.

"They have a three-piece mattress which is just as uncomfortable as it was 150 years ago," he said. "It is stuffed with straw and it shifts."

In Bulgaria they saw new motels and motels such as are seen in California, Rand added. "But they don't have a detergent for the bathrooms. They don't have proper shower fittings and don't know quite how to set up the service features such as coffee for breakfast which an American likes. The beds were uncomfortable and lighting improper."

Rand said he was once told, "We have dollars to spend for these things but we don't know what the American wants. We are more than willing to buy these things to let the American tourist have a better time in Bulgaria."

The television sending set in Sofia came from England. The television antenna and receiving set came from Holland.

"We were the 50th and 51st Americans to go to Bulgaria since World War II," Rand said. "The British, the Swedes and the Germans are there."

"Sofia is loading jet freighters with strawberries today for Moscow. We haven't even got a jet freighter in the U. S. yet."

Rand, who lives at 715 Spring Street, has spent 15 years overseas, seven in Europe and eight in Bermuda.

In the seven countries, Rand said, are 100 million people all of whose thoughts and trade patterns have been to the West rather than to the East. "Once again they are moving into the Western market through West Germany, Holland, Sweden and the American business man has not even looked at the market."

Rand said he thinks there is a great misunderstanding in America regarding what the Eastern European countries are doing. He cited U. S. criticism of the state farm, the lack of religious faith and the form of government.

"I have just come back after seeing some of the richest fields and farmlands. And I have talked with the most devout people. We found the churches filled. And I didn't talk politics.

"I talked the simple way of life that I'm interested in. A refrigerator that works. A home of my own, friends around me. And I found that these people wanted exactly the same things.."

THIS GOOD LIFE

The good life is a full life, complete with the comforts and convenience of a full living standard. It is also a balanced life, in which the stimulation of earning your way in the world is sharpened by the relaxation of an enjoyable leisure time.

How did you learn about the labor-saving tools and comforts that surround your good life? Probably through advertising. What is more, you can probably afford them only because of the freedom of competition brought about by advertising.

Because it can advertise, a company can offer improved products or better prices to anyone in the nation, and quickly obtain the advantages of mass production. Because they can advertise, companies in America have provided the good life for practically everybody. Can any other nation say as much?

GOP's 'Joe Smith' Went To Demo Confab With Wife

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP) — Terry Carpenter of "Joe Smith" fame went to another national political convention this year, but under different circumstances than in 1956.

Instead of being a delegate to the Republican National Convention in Chicago, Carpenter was the escort of his wife, a Nebraska delegate to the Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles.

The state senator, who nominated the mythical "Joe Smith" for vice president at the Republican convention in 1956, lost not only his bid for the Republican nomination for governor in the May primary but also failed to make the grade as Republican delegate.

Politician Tries For Two Offices

NOGALES, Ariz. (AP)—Peter Raptis Jr. can't make up his mind whether to try to be a state senator or county supervisor.

Hoping the voters will help him decide, he's circulating petitions for both offices.

"I'll make a choice," he said, "when petition filing time comes around and I see which petitions contain the most names."

CURTAIN ABOUT TO CLOSE — But Sausalito Little Theater performers Lou Mason and Elaine Mitchell are still going strong in the leading role they have portrayed since the show opened last June. The curtain will close for the season after six more performances.

Musical In Sausalito Plays Six More Times

"East of the Rockies", the original musical melodrama playing at the Sausalito Little Theater is nearing the end of its successful summer-long run. There are only six more performances Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30 o'clock.

Directed by John Brebner, the cast features Elaine Mitchell in the leading role of Chip Gordon, a "wild mountain maid". The author of the script, Lou Mason, is seen in the part of the hero Julian Gray; and the composer of the brilliant score, Jon Sutton, portrays the comedy part of Hank Williams, the bartender and owner of the Red Dog Saloon.

Reservations can be made by calling the Sausalito Little Theater, 745½ Bridgeway.

Children's Workshop Start Soon At Dominican College

Saturday morning children's workshops on the Dominican College campus will be resumed Sept. 10.

An introduction to the French language for boys and girls aged 5 to 8 will be given by Mrs. Michelle Warnock, a native of France and a teacher of French for children. This class will meet at Meadowlands from 9:15 to 10:15.

Also for children 5 to 8 there will be a pre-instrumental introduction to basic music skills, a class designed to provide background for formal study of an instrument. This class will be given in Angelico Hall from 10:30 to 11:30.

For properly qualified beginners 7 to 10 there will be an introduction to the keyboard and musicianship, with class instruction in piano and theory. Eligible are those who completed the past year's course in exploring music or whose qualifications are deemed satisfactory. This class will meet in Angelico Hall from 9:15 to 10:15.

A theater workshop for boys and girls aged 10 to 14 will be conducted by Mrs. Joan Smith drama and recreational activities teacher. This class will meet in Meadowlands assembly hall on Saturdays from 9:15 to 10:15.

Enrollment in these workshops is limited so as to insure individual attention.

Registration may be made by telephone call or letter to the director of Saturday classes.

Senior Citizens Visit Marin

Chartered buses brought 200 senior citizens from the Montefiore Richmond Center in San Francisco to the Belvedere home of Mr. and Mrs. Lou H. Hymans today.

This was the fifth annual party given by Mrs. Hymans, chairman of this senior citizens group, which is sponsored by the San Francisco Council of Jewish Women.

This party like the previous ones is given in memory of Mrs. Hyman's father, the late Alfred Arendt, who took a special interest in the senior citizens group.

WOULD HELP BUILD

Swimming Pool Plan Pleases Tam Students

Tamalpais High School student body president Stewart Hindley told the Mill Valley Planning Commission Tuesday night that he and his fellow students are very pleased that a swimming pool has been included in the proposed plans for the Project 17 recreation area.

He spoke at the commission's adjourned meeting in connection with discussion on land use in the mashlands area at which members of the park and recreation commission, library board and other parties were in attendance.

Hindley said, in the event it would be too costly to build a pool at Project 17, the students offer their services "at slave wages" to help develop a pool at Cascade Dam. He considered slave wages 75 cents an hour, he said.

Spokesmen for different city organizations discussed the recreation project thoroughly, stressing the importance of the city's acquiring the Biggio property as soon as possible at the corner of Sycamore Avenue extension and Camino Alto. It would be used for recreation, community uses and library facilities.

A subcommittee meeting of parks and recreation commission, the planning commission and other parties will meet at 8 p.m. tonight at the city hall to discuss further the recreation area.

William Price deplored the loss of time, money and materials in switching the present baseball diamond around. The change, according to planners, is necessary in order to add a football field.

County Planning Director Mrs. Mary Summers pointed out four different sites for the proposed rapid transit system depot and parking area. She said she favored the site northeast of Tamalpais high school on both sides of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad as being the best from a traffic standpoint.

It was suggested by several representatives at the meeting that the area at the tip of Enchanted Knolls be rezoned from commercial to multiple.

Recommendations from the land use meeting will be considered at the planning commission meeting Tuesday and recommendations then made to the city council.

Town Finds Out Name of Trees

STERLING, Colo. (AP) — For decades people here wondered what kind of flowering tree grows in the courthouse square. Asst. County Agent Bob Coissant got so many inquiries about the tree, believed planted around the turn of the century, he sent a branch to Dr. H. D. Harrington, University of Colorado botanist.

Dr. Harrington drew this conclusion: The tree is a member of the family sapindacae native to northern China. Genus is xanthoceras, and the species is sorbifolia.

Marin Leaders For Kennedy Appointed

Marin Supervisor Vera Schultz and Samuel W. Gardiner, San Rafael attorney, will serve as co-chairmen of the Kennedy for President campaign in Marin County, it was announced today.

Announcement of the appointments was made by Thomas C. Lynch and William H. Orrick Jr., co-chairmen of the Northern California Kennedy-Johnson campaign.

Mrs. Schultz, a member of the board of supervisors eight years, was a delegate to the 1952 Democratic National Convention. Prior to being elected to the Marin Board, she was a city councilwoman in Mill Valley. She has been active in sponsoring county planning and conservation measures. Mrs. Schultz recently was defeated for re-election to a term that starts next January.

Gardiner, a member of the Democratic Party State Central Committee, has been a leading figure in Democratic activities in Marin many years. He was a delegate to three past Democratic National Conventions and served four terms as chairman of the Marin Democratic Committee. He is a member of the law firm of Gardiner, Riede and Elliott, San Rafael.
